Sign 'clutter' may be eliminated by new laws

By GEORGEANN McGEE
of the Press-Record

Who walks down a street crowded with overhanging signs and looks up to check the name of the store? Were neon signs only appealing in the 50s, or were they unattractive then?

A strict sign ordinance is one of the first steps a future downtown development group might actively lobby for in its own area, planners are suggesting. Such an ordinance sparked the most interest among downtown business leaders during a meeting last week.

The current city municipal code governing signs and awnings requires a permit for any signs extending over public sidewalks or streets, but leaves the design of the sign to the judgment of the store owners.

Currently, ordinances forbid any sign to be closer than eight feet to the ground over a sidewalk or 15 feet above an area used for vehicles. Although the city law takes steps to insure its residents against physical injury by improperly constructed or fastened signs, it provides no protection against a visual assault to the senses.

GC merchants are asked to volunteer for regulation

The Downtown Belleville Center sign ordinance is expected to serve as one guide for revamping the sign ordinance for Granite City's downtown district, according to David Nolan, administrative aide to Mayor Paul Schuler.

The basis for a street graphics ordinance in Belleville was the desire to make the signs more compatible with their surroundings; expressive of the image the municipality wanted to project; appropriate for the type of business each represented; and, of course, legible.

In addition to protecting the safety of pedestrians, which the current Granite City sign ordinance does, the Belleville ordinance tries:

—To provide an atmosphere for high quality establishments and to enhance the value of existing businesses by promoting effective displays.

—To encourage good sign practices and to lessen the competitive effect of the size and placement of signs.

—To protect the natural and man-made beauty of the area.

—To preserve the value of private property.

—To contribute to the well-being of the community by encouraging a sense of beauty for the visual environment.

Total sign frontage for each store in the Belleville Center area may not utilize more than 300 square feet, but the area permitted can be considerably less, depending on the street frontage of each store.

The allowable area is computed according to the street frontage with 1.5 square feet of sign allowed for each foot of street frontage for the first 100 feet. One square foot of sign is allowed per one foot of frontage in excess of 100 feet.

The sign area allowance includes window signs, which may not take up more than 20 percent of the window space.

No sign is permitted to mechanically move in any manner, blink or flash, except electronically-operated copy signs; or be illuminated by any color other than white within 200 feet of a residential zoning district.

Although flush-mounted signs are preferred, signs may project up to four feet from the building, but may not exceed more than 16 square feet in area.

Nolan said he does not want any sign ordinance to be mandated to the business community, but wishes the merchants to "come to us with the project."

The Belleville ordinance is "something we'll look at and let the group decide what ways they want to approach it," Nolan said. A stricter sign ordinance may become part of the downtown redevelopment project and will concern only the downtown area.

$1 million in goods are seized

Three carloads of goods taken from the residence of former Assistant Fire Chief Charles Hileman, 54, of 2330 Lynch Ave., are available persons who can show ownership identification, East Alton Police Chief Michael Urban said Tuesday.

"We confiscated literally thousands of items, mainly jewelry and silver tableware," Urban told the Press-Record. "I believe the total value may approach $1 million."

Some of the articles have been traced to Granite City as well as such areas as Danville, Ill., and Florissant, Mo.

After a search warrant was obtained and utilized on the night of Jan. 15, rings, watches, knives, forks, coin sets, furs, stereo units, television sets, household goods, three motorcycles and other expensive products were taken as evidence by the raiding party. Among those assisting were agents of the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation.

Authorities contend that Hileman has not produced evidence of purchase or title to most of the confiscated items. Granite City officers say Hileman returned home during Friday night's search but fled in his vehicle before entering the residence. He was followed and taken into custody.

Held at the Madison County jail this week in lieu of $100,000 bond, the former fire department official is charged with felony theft and parole violation.

Chief Urban said it is planned to display the goods for persons who believe specific articles may have been stolen from them and who can provide verification. Details of the time and place of the display will be announced later.

In the meantime, individuals with claims may wish to contact the East Alton police at 1-259-6212, he said. Urban noted that much work remains to be done in sorting the items and determining identifying numbers or marks.

An investigation in recent weeks centered on the belief that stolen goods were being "fenced" through a central point in Madison County. (A person who serves as a "fence" purchases articles from thieves or burglars at less than the normal value and then resells the items for a profit; the practice is illegal.)

It was learned that the investigation had been broadened this month to include central and southern Illinois and both the Illinois and Missouri portions of the St. Louis metropolitan area.

Two men were arrested in mid-December after police began checking on a series of home burglaries in the Rosewood Heights area.

T. R. Van Ausdall, 27, Hartford, was charged with felony theft. Timothy James Bennett, 26, East Alton, was charged with burglary. They are in the county jail pending posting of $100,000 bonds.

Hileman became a fireman in 1950 and was the assistant chief for eight years until retiring from his city job in 1977. He pleaded guilty in December 1977 to three felony counts of theft for obtaining possession on three occasions of collector's items taken in burglaries in Tennessee.

Hileman was placed on three years of probation by Circuit Judge Joseph Barr and that time was fined $1,000.

On April 30, 1980, he was charged in connection with incidents occurring in his home and trading shop in Granite City April 23.

The initial allegations then were: contributing to the sexual delinquency of a minor girl, unlawful use of a weapon and unlawful possession of a firearm by a convicted felon.

He was sentenced in 1980 to serve a series of weekends in jail.

OVERHEAD SIGN CLUTTER. Granite City downtown developers are taking a closer look at overhanging signs than most customers do, they say. David Nolan, administrative assistant to Mayor Paul Schuler, and Joseph Parente, city planner, have presented downtown redevelopment plans to the merchants which include a stricter sign ordinance. This view is looking east on Niedringhaus Avenue from Cleveland Boulevard.

Renew calls for GC employee reductions

By GEORGEANN McGEE
of the Press-Record

The threat of additional city worker layoffs in Granite City, which has loomed over employees here since a budget deficit was discovered last summer, came closer to reality Tuesday night.

At the Granite City Council's meeting, Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman of the Second Ward said that aldermen must finally confront the issue of further city cuts versus more borrowing before union negotiations begin in earnest next month.

Alderman Casner Skubish of the First Ward called for a five percent cut in employee salaries, but received no immediate backing on his proposal.

Earlier that evening, Skubish asked the Granite City Air Pollution Board to consider dismissing the two remaining employees of the Air Pollution Control Department, in view of the city's projected $500,000 deficit by the end of the year.

Prior to the discussion of further layoffs, triggered by the hiring of an employee at the Wastewater Treatment Plant, the council defeated a one-percent added sales tax on liquor and restaurants that was projected to bring in about $264,000 to $396,000 in revenues a year.

The council decided unanimously to hire back the last of the laid-off wastewater plant workers cut during city-wide layoffs last summer.

Recommending the move, Mayor Paul Schuler said that failure to comply with a union contract calling for 26 employees at the plant could result in legal action by the engineer's union or the disregard of the entire contract by plant employees.

"I think it's totally irresponsible to hire when the money is not there," Schuman told the council before the vote.

Schuman said the sooner the council decides to deal with the matter of further city cuts, the sooner the city will be able to "get away from this anxiety" caused by the intermittent talks of employee layoffs. The last discussion was initiated by Alderman Jake Varadian last month.

"I think with the new budget coming up, we're going to have to come up with (employee) cuts," Schuman said.

"I think you have expressed the feeling of everyone on the council," the mayor told the aldermen. "I agree with you and just about everything you said."

Skubish said the city faces the "problem of going into negotiations with an empty breadbasket." In addition to suggesting the five percent cut in pay for city employees, he called for a meeting of all union leaders and the city negotiating committee to sit down and frankly discuss the city's financial situation.

Skubish said some salary cuts could come from employee fringe benefits, but some may have to come directly from the salaries. Skubish said a time for financial sacrifice has arrived. "This is as far as we can go," he said, referring to the city's pocketbook and repeating the words of the mayor.

New honors program for able students wins board approval

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

With universities sharply tightening test standards and high school course requirements, the Granite City School Board acted Tuesday night to strengthen students' ability to qualify for collegiate challenges and scholarships.

An "Honors Program" for high school students was established—effective in the fall of 1982—on the recommendation of Supl. B. J. Davis, Warren D. Collins, instructional services administrator, and Merna M. Musterman, gifted program coordinator.

Registration of interested students will take place within the next few weeks.

Cooperating in the planning were South Principal James Dumont, North Principal Gilbert Walmsley, Harold Gebhardt, North science department head, Cynthia Hornell of the English department at South, and Dale Ashmore of the North social studies department.

Supl. Davis said, "This will give us a program for academically talented students from the elementary through the high school level. I believe the plan can expand students' opportunities." Increased emphasis will be placed on foreign languages. Other elements will include:

—Adding to the curriculum a junior honors English A course and also a half-hour elective, entitled "seminar."

—Changing the present honors English A course title to senior honors English A.

—Adding honors sections to existing courses in American literature, biology I, world history I and II, economics and civics.

—Moving civics from the senior year to the sophomore year so that Honors Program students will be "previously prepared" for the sections of college entrance examinations that test this subject.

The administrators and teachers answered questions from the board.

NEW CHALLENGES await Walter Milton (second from right) and Sixth Ward Alderman Mac Warfield (right) who were both approved by the Granite City Council for new city positions Tuesday. Milton, a Granite City Park Commissioner, will take Warfield's place as alderman beginning Feb. 1, when Warfield will become the city's new superintendent of streets. Mayor Paul Schuler made the appointments with the unanimous backing of the council. Congratulating Warfield and Milton are Aldermen Stephen Saltich (left) of the Sixth Ward and Paul Bowler (second from the left) of the Seventh Ward.

Muellers to retire from faculty

Retirement plans of Alphonse J. "Al" Mueller and his wife, Patricia B. "Pat" Mueller, were accepted with regret by the Granite City Board of Education on Tuesday night, effective June 4.

Mueller, Press-Record general manager until joining the school district's faculty, has been a middle intermediate teacher at Johnson Elementary School.

His retirement letter said, "It has been a privilege and a pleasure to have served this community as a teacher. I have met and worked with many extremely dedicated teachers as well as other school personnel and with some very fine young people."

"Though I have taught for only 13 years, the time has come to speak of sandy beaches and balm and am grateful for having been privileged to work with so many fine, dedicated educators. It has been my life."

Mrs. Mueller, a Nameoki Elementary School upper intermediate teacher, formerly was a junior high school science teacher.

She commented, "From Central, where some of us began, to Grigsby and Nameoki, I have had the privilege of working with and enjoying fantastic people, both teachers and administrators. I have also enjoyed and relished the challenges each class of students presented to me, loving most every minute of it."

"Thank you all for 21 years of cooperation with me and my ideas. Thank you again for your sincere friendship, and my sincerest respect for you all. I am eagerly looking forward to this next new step in my life."

Retiring March 13 will be John Gyarmati, a Grigsby Junior High custodian, and retiring Jan. 20 was George Batly, a Granite City High School North custodian.

Joan Roberts resigned as a Lake Elementary School teacher assistant Jan. 18 due to personal illness. She said, "My association with the children of Granite City District Nine has been most enriching."

Citing family responsibilities, Alissa A. Bossett resigned Jan. 5 as Grigsby Junior High resource teacher. She commented, "It has been a great pleasure working with the children of Granite City and I certainly hope to resume my teaching duties at some time in the future."

She also honorably dismissed teachers were employed effective this week for the spring 1982 semester. They are Ronald Coleman, for a Lake School upper intermediate class, and Sheila McCauley, as a Grigsby Junior High resource teacher.

Resigning from extracurricular assignments were Judy Collins, Marshall School intramurals, and Alan Brueggemann, Webster School intramurals.

Appointed Tuesday night to extracurricular positions were Paul Kinde, High assistant baseball coach; Robert Hollingshead, South High assistant "B" track coach; and Richard Williams, Coolidge Junior High intramurals.

A leave of absence until June due to personal illness was approved for Joseph Hordesky, a Wilson School custodian.

The board extended until June the illness leave of absence of Gladys Campbell, a North High cafeteria employee.

Ratifying recommendations of the Region I Special Education District Madison County, the Granite City Board of Education approved 10 percent salary increases for occupational therapy and physical therapy personnel.

A report by Steve Balen, director of the special education district, showed a Public Law 94-142 child count as of Dec. 1 totaling 1,068, including 1,306 in the Granite City district, 244 in Madison County, the Granite City and 118 in Venice. Compared to a year ago, the Granite City count is up by 45 students, Madison has six fewer and Venice has two fewer students.

Granite City School District enrollment in December decreased by 67, from 9,871 to 9,804. There were 81 new entries but 148 students were dropped. Supl. B. J. Davis noted that, while most enrollment decreases have been occurring in the upper grades, the December reductions totaled 26 at the high school level, five at the junior high schools and 36 at the grade schools.

GOSPEL SINGERS. Four brothers, from left, Randy, Dan, Terry and Rod Knock, known at the Knock-Abouts, will present a concert of inspirational gospel music at 7 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 24, at Dewey Avenue United Methodist Church, 22nd Street and Dewey Avenue. They began singing in 1969 and in 1980, they went on their first extensive tour through Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Missouri. At this time, they recorded their first album entitled, "He'll send a Miracle," according to the Rev. Ray Kelley, host pastor. The foursome have not given up their employment and are involved in full-time ministry. The public is welcome to attend, admission free. A free-will offering will be received, Rev. Kelley added.

Annual Shrine election Jan. 28

Illustrious Potentate Donald G. Adams, head of the nearly 9,000 Nobles of the Shrine Temple, will chair the annual election at the Temple on Jan. 28, to fill the office he now holds.

There are six other elective offices, plus six appointive spots on the Divan as well as the election of four Imperial Representatives. This will be the 71st election for the Temple since it was formed in 1912, and received its charter in 1913. The Temple was dedicated in 1923, and was called the largest building of its kind in Southern Illinois at that time. The auditorium alone seats 2,700 people.

Ainad has four of its Nobles on the Board of Governors, Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children, St. Louis unit, which totals 13 members. They are, Past Potentates Harold G. Baker, Belleville, and Roy E. Williams, Granite City. Potentate Donald G. Adams of Granite City, and Russell J. Maxwell, Millstadt, Director of Public Relations.

There were 38 applications received from children in the Ainad area in 1981 for admission to the St. Louis Hospital. This was up six from 1980. Ainad is transporting 56 children from the area back and forth to Cincinnati, Ohio, to the Burns Hospital for care and clinic visits.

Other Nobles on the Ainad Divan include, chief rabban Mark Moreton, Freeburg; Bill Parker, assistant rabban, Fairfield; High Priest and Prophet Gene T. Morris, DuQuoin; Oriental Guide Joseph W. Barnes Jr., Highland; Treasurer C. A. "Jack" Dempsey, Granite City; Recorder R. H. "Dick" Ervay, Granite City; 1st Ceremonial Master, Thomas J. Barschak, Edwardsville; 2nd Ceremonial Master Raymond R. "Randy" Burton, Granite City; Director, Irvin C. Slate Jr., Granite City; Marshal Orville E. Hommert, Granite City; Captain of the Guard William H. "Bill" Piper, Mt.

Vernon; Outer Guard H. E. "Gene" Tracy, Marine. The new Potentate will choose a Outer Guard to be named that night. The meeting will follow a dinner that will be served in the Temple dining room beginning at 6 p.m. Nobles from the 40 Shrine Clubs in Southern Illinois, plus the 41 Temple Units will attend.

Another railroad crossing mishap

Another collision has occurred in which a motorist—aware of warning lights but unable to see a train—ventured onto the Edwardsville Road railroad crossing and was struck.

At 8:25 p.m. Sunday, Sarah J. Fowler, 18, Collinsville, was southbound. A Granite City Steel engine operated by William Chilcutt of Pontoon Beach backed eastward, pushing four railroad cars. The back of the fourth car hit the right side of the auto, and the vehicle had to be towed away. Conductor Leroy Morris of Edwardsville said he was waving a flare at the time of the crash.

Madison County Sheriff Emil Toffant of Madison will be unopposed in the March 16 Democratic primary election. He is seeking a second four-year term.

Ralph Dewey Brawley, retired Venice police chief, withdrew from the ballot Jan. 14 as the period for withdrawals came to an end. There were no other withdrawals for countywide elective office nor in the

The lone Republican candidate is Bob Barton of Nameoki Township for county treasurer.

Democratic county treasurer rivals are County Treasurer Michael Henkhaus of Bethalto, Fred Palmer of Granite City and Robert C. Stille of Edwardsville.

Unopposed in the Democratic primary are Toffant, County Clerk Evelyn Bowles of Edwardsville and Regional Superintendent Harold "Gene" Briggs of Granite City.

David Connor to head Arts Council

Governor James R. Thompson has announced the appointment of David E. Connor as chairman of the Illinois Arts Council. "It is with great personal pleasure that I appoint David Connor as chairman of the Illinois Arts Council. I am enthusiastic about the balance of experience and leadership in business, government and the arts that he brings to this position."

A graduate of Yale University, Connor has served two terms on the Illinois arts Council—from 1970-73 as vice chairman, and currently since January 1979.

He is a director of the Commercial National Bank of Peoria, a director of the Central Illinois Light Company, and a director of the Toledo, Peoria and Western Railroad.

Connor is active in civic affairs as president of the Peoria Development Corporation, chairman of the Peoria Downtown Development Council, director of the Peoria Chamber of Commerce, Trustee of Bradley University and director of Proctor Community Hospital.

Connor also has been active in state government as a delegate to the Illinois Constitutional Convention. He is a director of the Illinois Political Action Committee and chairman of Illinois 2000, a private group looking at Illinois' economic future.

Connor, 55, has been acting chairman of the arts Council since July, 1981. The position

Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer, Granite City, who represents District 20 on the 29-member County Board, will be unopposed in the Democratic primary. Withdrawing in District 20 was Woodrow "Woody" Moad.

Marion "Sparky" Sparks withdrew from the County Board District 16 Democratic primary, leaving a two-way race between Board Member Morris W. Miles of Mitchell and Chester E. Whyers Sr. In District 25, Democrat Louis Zeezoff Jr. withdrew, leaving a three-way primary contest between Board Member Richard Peck of Nameoki Township, Donald C. Rea and Homer Boothman, the latter of State Park Place and a former County Board member.

Now unopposed in the Republican District 10 primary is William Michael Deed of Alton. John Jay Dick withdrew.

No other withdrawals were received and the remaining names will appear on the primary ballot for the various county and board offices. March winners will vie in the November 1982 general election.

Real estate information night is set

Information about the varied methods of financing new and existing homes will be discussed at a Realty World Star, Inc.'s Home Financing Information Night.

Severe wildlife fines are levied

One of the heaviest fines ever levied for infractions of the Illinois Wildlife Code was handed down in a Madison County court by Associate Judge Thomas E. Hildebrand, who warned the defendant that "man has no God-given right to exterminate the creatures who wander across the face of this planet."

Allen R. Todd, 29, of Granite City, was found guilty of violations, including illegal possession of fur-bearing animals and violating his taxidermy permit.

His fines totaled approximately $5,750.

Judge Hildebrand further decreed that the defendant be placed on probation for one year, and suspended his hunting and trapping privileges for the same period, said Chief Larry Closson, Division of Law Enforcement, Illinois Department of Conservation.

Todd was arrested June 10, 1981, following an investigation by two officers with the DOC's new investigative unit and a special agent of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Closson said.

The chief praised Judge Hildebrand's stand, and expressed hope that other members of the Illinois judiciary offices join him in "cracking down on poaching and other illegal wildlife activities."

"I think that this court should do what's best to preserve the existence of other species, so our children and grandchildren can have some idea what these were — and see wildlife as it is, other than looking at pictures in some dusty books because all of them are dead," Judge Hildebrand said as he sentenced Todd.

"I hope when you walk away from here, Mr. Todd, you'll realize that there is a right way and a wrong way of doing things," the judge said.

"The killing and mounting of animals has been going on for years and years."

"There is absolutely nothing wrong with it when it is done under a properly licensed and properly controlled fashion. It is just like the sale of automobiles, but when you start selling automobiles that you are not supposed to have, the law steps in and does disheartening and discouraging things to the people involved."

"I hope that many of your colleagues who may be tempted to do a little bit of this on the side — and who don't quite follow the conservation code regarding the taking and killing of animals — will get the hint, too, and will put a stop to this right now."

Permits needed to reserve shelters

Groups and organizations wishing to reserve shelters at lake areas managed by the St. Louis District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will be required to hold a recreation or "special use permit" issued by the district.

A charge of $20 is made to assure this type of reservation. Permits currently are being issued for group shelters at Carlyle Lake, Lake Shelbyville, Rend Lake and Clarence Cannon Dam.

Fees are being charged to offset cost in reserving, posting and maintaining the shelters for group use.

These permits should be obtained at the lake administrative offices at each of the facilities. Addresses are:

Carlyle Lake Management Office, Rural Route One, Carlyle, Ill., 62231, phone 1-694-2484.

Lake Shelbyville Management Office, Post Office Drawer 126, Shelbyville, Ill., 62565, phone 1-217-774-3961.

Rend Lake Management Office, Rural Route Three, Benton, Ill., 62812, phone 1-724-2493.

Clarence Cannon Dam & Mark Twain Lake Management Office, Post Office Box 25, Monroe City, Mo., 63556, phone 1-314-735-4087.

New employee at Health Services

Sandra Kelley, a resident of Collinsville, has been employed as secretary receptionist at the Highland facility of Mental Health Services, Southern Madison County. It was announced this week.

She is a graduate of Roxana High School and has a bachelor's degree in Education from Lincoln Christian College in Lincoln, Ill.

Miss Kelley previously worked as a medical secretary in Granite City.

Mental Health Services is a private, not-for-profit organization that serves all residents in the southern half of Madison County, including family and group counseling, an adult socialization program, crisis intervention and community outreach.

The agency's administrative offices are located at 2024 State St., Granite City, with satellite facilities in Edwardsville and Highland.

Luke 10:41-42 . . . "And Jesus answered her and said unto her, Martha, Martha, thou art careful and troubled about many things: But one thing is needful: and Mary hath chosen that good part, which shall not be taken away from her."

We must admit that there is no lack of concern among God's children today. Every where you turn people are careful and troubled. If only worry helped! Jesus has given us a great solution to our concerns and fears.

One thing is needful. He couldn't make it easier than this: one thing. Not two nor three nor four. One thing is needful. Do you know what that one thing is? Hearing the words of Jesus. That's it! Let the Bible be a lamp for your pathway through life. God and His Word one and the same.

Worth noting also is this truth: that we must hear the Word and do it. We cannot separate obedience from the life of peace and contentment.

There is one thing needful for you.

Fatal shooting in Madison

Franklin "Peaches" Wooten, 35, of 405 Merceda Ave., Venice, died at 9:25 a.m. Wednesday, in Firmo Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, from a gunshot wound to the head.

The victim was shot while sitting inside a car parked in a driveway at 909 Franklin Ave., Madison, at 7:40 p.m. Monday. Madison police have been and are investigating the shooting and questioning numerous persons to determine if the shooting was accidental or homicide.

Mr. Wooten was said to be in a coma from the time of the shooting until the reported time of death, according to police.

He was shot once with a .25-caliber pistol. The bullet entered his neck and traveled into his head, according to a police spokesman.

The police have the pistol.

Madison police were notified of the shooting by a telephone call from a neighbor.

Police stated that they could not comment at this time about the case, suspects, theories or incidents surrounding the shooting, due to the current investigation.

Milton, Warfield appointments ok'd

The Granite City Council gave unanimous approval Tuesday night to Mayor Paul Schuler's appointment of Alderman Mac Warfield as superintendent of streets and Walter Milton to take Warfield's aldermanic seat, representing the Sixth Ward. Both appointments are to take effect Feb. 1 and will expire in April, 1983.

"I believe Mac is well qualified and there were others as well qualified...it is rather difficult when the city has only one position (available)," the mayor told the council when he submitted Warfield's name as a replacement for former superintendent Lionel Portell.

"I think Mac has already been visiting the street department," Schuler said in promising a smooth transition. Portell's resignation was effective Dec. 31.

City Clerk Robert W. Stevens read Warfield's resignation as an alderman, effective Feb. 1. In his letter, he expressed his gratitude to the mayor and council members for their support and help while he served as a member of the council, which has been since 1979.

"With the insight the aldermanic experience has given me, I will be an effective and efficient street superintendent. My door will always be open, not only to you, but to all the citizens of Granite City," Stevens read from Warfield's letter.

"I am sure you will be getting a lot of phone calls," the mayor warned Warfield. The alderman said he will be taking a leave of absence from his job at the Granite City Steel division of National Steel Corp.

Granite City Park Commission

Walter Milton's appointment as Sixth Ward replacement for Warfield will prompt him to resign his position as a park commissioner, a post which he held since July, when he was appointed to fill the seat vacated by the resignation of David Nolan from the park board.

Milton ran unsuccessfully for the aldermanic seat last year, losing to Warfield.

Warfield tried unsuccessfully to defeat Portell in a bid for street superintendent in 1975. Portell now is the city works manager for St. Peters, Mo.

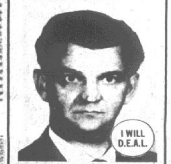

Milton and his wife, Peggy, reside at 3214 Wabash Ave. Warfield and his wife, Betty, reside at 22 Devon Hill Lane.

Madison to stop fire protection in township

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

Madison Alderman Thomas Gordon, chairman of the city finance committee, asked City Clerk John Belleff and Mayor Mike Sasyk if there had been any response to the letter that was sent advising the Nameoki Township Board that as of midnight Sunday, Jan. 31, the Madison Fire Department would stop making fire calls to Nameoki Township.

Both officials responded that they have received no communication from Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry Briggs.

Mayor Sasyk said, "We had a meeting with their newly-appointed citizens' committee and we explained the costs involved and problems with fires in the East Madison and Cloverleaf areas. It is just not fair that Madison taxpayers should pay for this extra burden. The committee was told that unless the township will guarantee payment for fire papers for the election year. We have a few business places we will continue with fire protection under contract with us, but we can not take out special contracts with individuals."

"It is up to the people of Nameoki Township and the supervisor to make a decision if they do not want fire protection. Madison taxpayers cannot continue to subsidize Nameoki Township's fire protection," Sasyk said.

Fire Captain Mike Macek said, "We had two fires this week and six in December (a Nameoki Township) and we will not be paid for them, as the people have no insurance. In fact, some of the people — not all — are very hostile toward us when we ask about insurance or payment for a call."

Gordon asked Macek, "How much does it cost us, or what do we charge for a fire call outside of the city?"

Macek replied, "We charge $50, and that is strictly a break-even point on expenses and does not include anything for wear and tear on equipment."

Gordon, addressing the mayor, said, "Since the Nameoki Township Board must recognize the problem and since they apparently have appointed a committee, I move we send a formal notice to all members of the board that we will no longer offer fire protection after midnight Sunday, Jan. 31."

"And (I move) that a legal notice to this effect be published in the Granite City Press-Record."

On a roll call vote, all 10 Madison aldermen voted in favor of Gordon's motion.

Madison Fire Chief Eldon Rhoads said, "There is a rumor in the township that our department will cover the fires in East Madison and Cloverleaf, until Long Lake (Volunteer Fire Department) gets there. I want it clear that in no way will we answer first. We may assist, but only on specific request."

from Long Lake after they are on the scene."

Venice Township Supervisor Christ Pashoff said, "We have paid the Venice Fire Department $24,000 for fire calls and, if Venice Township can do it, I can't see why Nameoki Township can't do it for their people."

Madison is due more than $20,000 in unpaid fire calls to Nameoki Township, officials estimated.

Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry Briggs told the Press-Record that the township attorney is sending a letter to the state fire marshal, requesting that Cloverleaf and East Madison be assigned to a fire district.

This would mean that either the Long Lake or State Park fire departments would have to answer fire calls in the area.

He noted that the township is trying to establish a special election to form a fire district. This would mean a 12½-cent tax per $100 assessed valuation on homes. Briggs said maps and other papers for the election request now are being prepared.

It is estimated about 300 people are affected by the proposed new district.

After the Madison City Council meeting, a discussion arose whether insurance carriers would write fire insurance in the area, even with a fire district.

Since the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department is at least 15 minutes away, doubts were expressed about the availability of obtaining fire insurance in that part of the township.

Briggs said no chairman has been named for the citizens' committee to work on the fire district problem in the township.

Members of the Nameoki Township fire district committee, and their telephone numbers, are: Bob Ely, 2130 Collinsville Ave., 876-9077; William Salmon, 2000 Fifth St., 876-3456; Jim Sharp, 2009 Fourth St., 877-2327; Jo Ann Wilkins, 2133 Troy Ave., 877-1397; Larry Reinhart, 2007 Hildebrand St., 451-1608; and "Sox" Degischer, 1927 Fifth St., 876-2023; Don Patterson, 2030 Fifth St., 876-3295; Jerry Warner, 2009 Sixth St., 451-7457; Irma Manning, 2021 Hildebrand St., 876-4409; and Charles Reed, who, according to Briggs, lives in the city of Madison, but is moving into Nameoki Township, 876-7154.

Briggs commented that he does not know how Venice Township handles its reimbursements to the city of Venice, but he said that Nameoki Township has no such funds available.

A legal notice appears elsewhere in today's paper serving notice on the ending of fire calls by the Madison Fire Department to the East Madison and Cloverleaf areas of Nameoki Township.

Granite City officers stood by at 2:40 p.m. Wednesday, while officers from Jersey County and East Alton made a further search of the Hileman residence, it was learned today.

Additional burglary loot was seized, but police were unable to estimate the value of the items confiscated in Wednesday's search which are in addition to three carloads of goods, valued at $1 million, removed from the house Friday.

Yesterday's return trip was required to seize goods not specified in the first search warrant and to check for more false leads.

Garage Productions expanding operation

Garage Productions Ltd. is opening its second Pantera's Pizza at 2 p.m. Friday in the Montclair Shopping Center, 1522 Troy Road (Highway 150), Edwardsville, it was announced today by Thomas A. Hooks, the firm's president.

Hooks is formerly of Venice and is still active as an associate adviser to Madison Explorer Post 104. Garage Productions Ltd. opened its first Pantera's Pizza in Fairview Heights in February, 1981.

Associated with Hooks are Joe Hauptman of Granite City, the firm's director of operations, and Jeffery Tolliver formerly of Venice, business manager.

Attending the opening will be State Sen. Sam Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville), Edwardsville Mayor Kenneth Evers, a former Granite City Rotary

President, and other civic leaders.

Garage Productions Ltd. is a small corporation started by Hooks several years ago, actually in the garage of his parents' home in Venice.

The firm now has interests in several restaurants, plus broadcast and print media. The firm, according to Hooks, is looking into still further expansion and diversity in the immediate future.

He declined to comment in any detail, stating simply, "We do have a few projects...on the drawing board, so to speak, but I like to take things rather slow, easy and very carefully. We will get our new restaurant working well and then we'll do some more expanding," he noted.

WILLIAM PATTON JR.
New director

DANIEL DEBERT
Vice-president

MELVIN EMBRICH
Asst. vice-president

Debert, Embrich are new officers of Trust Bank

New officers and directors of the Granite City (Trust) Bank were selected at the meeting of the board of directors, following the annual stockholders' meeting last week.

New officers elected are Daniel Debert, vice-president and Melvin Embrich, assistant vice-president; William L. Patton Jr., executive vice-president, was elected to the board of directors.

Debert has served as customer service manager of the bank since joining the staff in 1979. Embrich currently is the credit manager and installment loan officer.

Directors re-elected to the board are Dale Arnette, Clyde E. Beinhof, William P. Donovan, Homer Huber, Ernest A. Karandjeff Jr., Ernest A. Karandjeff Jr., Henry D. Karandjeff, Carl E. Mathis, Donald W. Partney Jr., Thomas R. Remington, Glenn A. Wolfe and Milford

D. Walston to the advisory board. E. A. Karandjeff was appointed by the board to be its chairman and Henry D. Karandjeff, honorary chairman.

Officers re-elected are Ernest A. Karandjeff Jr., president and trust officer; William L. Patton Jr., executive vice-president; Richard D. Singer, senior vice-president; Dave Giese, vice-president and cashier; Robert L. Hildebrand, vice-president and trust officer; Barry Loman, John J. Polson, Anthony J. Zedolek and Robert Deitrich, vice-presidents; Jacklyn Willard, assistant vice-president; Clara Parker, Irene Foeler and Gregory Dix, assistant cashiers and Larry Prater, vice-president and auditor.

In his message to the stockholders, the president pointed to the problems of current economic conditions, but emphasized optimism about the future. While interest rates have been volatile during the past year, he expressed hope that the tendency is downward. Bank assets are at record levels, Karandjeff said, totaling $75,680.00.

A primary reason for the growth of Granite City Trust, he stated, was the special conveniences offered by the bank. Particular emphasis was placed on the Total Teller, introduced in 1980, now with three locations. "Activity at these facilities has been tremendous," Karandjeff said, especially with the addition of the 801 Madison Avenue Total Teller in Madison.

Another successful new effort of the bank emphasized by President Karandjeff was the Five-Star Club, a senior citizens' organization sponsored by the bank. Offering special services, meetings and tours, the organization has grown to 640 members in just eight months. Field trips by the organization included a baseball game, and visits to St. Genevieve and Hermann, Missouri and Our Lady of the Snows in Belleville.

Karandjeff noted that the bank had stayed abreast of the many new financial vehicles made available by federal laws during the past year, including the All-Savers Certificates and the new IRA (individual retirement accounts).

He applauded the participation in community activities by many of the bank's employees and encouraged such involvement. Karandjeff noted that the bank will sponsor a home show in May at the Ice Rink in Wilson Park, which will include 100 businesses involved in home improvement.

In summary, Karandjeff commented, "We have the most modern banking facilities in terms of equipment and people of any bank in any major city. And, since the introduction of the Total Teller machines to the Granite City area, we now are the most convenient bank. We are committed to the community and will continue to help it grow."

FORMER A. O. SMITH EMPLOYEES TO MEET
Former employees of the A. O. Smith Corp. plant here are being invited to attend a meeting at the Jaycee Clubhouse, 1855 Poplar St., at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Steve Ortiz, who is among those organizing the event, said primary objective of the meeting is to provide assistance to those seeking work and to discuss other mutual problems which the former employees are experiencing.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served, Ortiz said.

Young Peoples Orchestra honors Coolidge student

Kimberly Asbeck, a seventh grader at Coolidge Junior High School, has been selected as the concertmaster of the Young Peoples Orchestra at the Saint Louis Conservatory and School for the Arts.

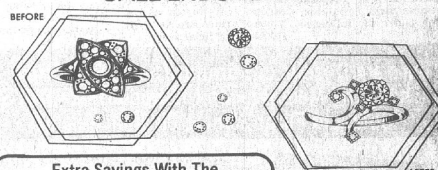

The orchestra is an audition group for young people of the St. Louis Area through age 18. It is conducted by Donald Chen of Webster College. Kimberly is a student of Dr. Kent Perry of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville's Suzuki String Program.

The Young Peoples Orchestra will give its first performance of the season on Wednesday, Jan. 27, at 7:30 p.m. in the Conservatory Auditorium. They will be performing pieces by Bizet, Britten, Mozart and Beethoven.

Thief gets robe; judge borrows one

A thief took the black judicial robe of Associate Judge Thomas E. Hildebrand, along with a black cloth travel bag, from his auto while it was parked in the driveway of his home in Granite City early this week.

Value of the missing items is estimated at $150. Hildebrand said he performed a wedding on Saturday and then left the robe in a carrying case inside the unlocked car. It was removed between 1 a.m. and noon Sunday, and he wore a borrowed robe in court on Monday.

Surprised by the theft, the associate judge said, "There isn't much use for a robe like that unless you are in a chair or a graduation class. What confuses me is they took nothing else, even though I had left some cassette tapes, an umbrella and a bottle of whiskey."

TOOLS STOLEN

Tools and tool boxes valued at $3,500 were taken from the truck of James Aubschon, 4544 Walter Ave., as it was parked at his residence. The theft was reported at 1:40 p.m. Sunday.

Wolf reappointed to vehicle commission

State Rep. Sam W. Wolf (D-Granite City) announced today his reappointment to the Motor Vehicle Laws Commission of Illinois. The reappointment was contained in a communication received from Minority Leader Michael Madigan of Chicago.

The Motor Vehicle Laws Commission (MVLC), one of the most active commissions in the Illinois Legislature, was particularly active in the last session, having presented a number of proposed changes to the vehicle code to the General Assembly for consideration, Wolf said.

The Commission, which is composed of an equal number from both the Illinois House and the Illinois Senate, conducted many hearings during 1980 and 1981 to formulate legislation dealing with a variety of subjects such as truck extensions, rescue vehicles, cycle driver training, medical transports, display of plates, revision of registration fees, disposal of unclaimed vehicles, driving under the influence of liquor or drugs, and many others pertaining to road and vehicle problems.

The commission was assisted in its research and findings by individuals and staff members of the Department of Transportation, Illinois State Police, Department of Corrections, Department of Law Enforcement, Secretary of State's Office, Illinois Commerce Commission, Midwest Trucking Association, Illinois Office of Education and others, who provided input and participated in hearings and demonstrations designed to provide maximum background data for legislative proposals.

Activities of the commission are under the supervision of Director Oren Lou Lowder and Assistant Director James Von Boeckman.

Court rules in favor of Mehelic

Madison County Chief Circuit Judge Joseph Barr has ruled that the Nameoki Township Board of Trustees must transfer funds from the contingency fund to cover a daily salary of $45 for Commissioner Frank Mehelic, seven days a week. Mehelic and his attorney, H. Carl Runge Jr., had asked the court that Mehelic be compensated for 365 days a year in his role as full-time road commissioner.

Last year by a 3-2 vote, the Nameoki Board had decided to ratify its 1981 budget allocating only $12,960 for Mehelic, basing his allotment to him on $45 daily for 288 days, which included 261 weekdays and 27 extra days.

Mehelic, who is serving the first year of his second year as highway commissioner, petitioned the court for what he considered the full amount of his salary. He had told the board earlier that he ran for the office on a per diem basis and was re-elected on that basis.

Runge had contended that Mehelic had been fully compensated prior to the court action, but Trustees W. Lee Adams, Helen M. Hawkins and Don W. Wilson had disagreed with the 365-day concept.

Mehelic received $15,695 the previous fiscal year on the basis of $43 per day for 365 days. When the trustees raised his salary to $45 per day this year, they set the annual figure in their budget passed March 31, 1981, at $12,960 for 288 days.

Previously, Mrs. Hawkins had cited economic goals in objecting to paying Mehelic for seven days a week for his work during the year. In December, the board had rejected Garcia's motion to transfer $3,780 from the town highway commissioner's fund.

About a week after the board's action, Runge had issued a statement saying the 365-day payment was needed for the "health, safety and essential township services" that Mehelic was providing.

365 days' work is involved and that highway officials are on call 24 hours a day, throughout the year, to direct work crews and to cope with road crisis.

In Mehelic's petition, he stated that the $12,960 budgeted for his position had been expended and that $3,665 more was due to him before the end of the board's current fiscal year.

"The judge found that 'considering the nature' of Mehelic's work as highway commissioner, and based on the 'past practice' employed by the town officials and trustees in prior years as to similar work, that Mehelic is entitled to the additional money."

Judge Barr directed Runge to present an order to the individual trustees and the Township Supervisor Harry Briggs, directing them to pass a resolution to compensate Mehelic, "so that he will receive the full sum of $15,625."

Supervisor Briggs and Trustee Joseph Garcia had agreed with Mehelic's contention that he should have been fully compensated prior to the court action, but Trustees W. Lee Adams, Helen M. Hawkins and Don W. Wilson had disagreed with the 365-day concept.

Mehelic received $15,695 the previous fiscal year on the basis of $43 per day for 365 days. When the trustees raised his salary to $45 per day this year, they set the annual figure in their budget passed March 31, 1981, at $12,960 for 288 days.

About a week after the board's action, Runge had issued a statement saying the 365-day payment was needed for the "health, safety and essential township services" that Mehelic was providing.

By the same resolution, all supervisory employees of the county, who are designated as supervisors, were granted annual increases of 1.144 for the 1982 fiscal year.

Appointed officials and department heads in a resolution adopted at its meeting Wednesday in Edwardsville.

2 charged in robbery attempt here

Charges were filed against two men Monday in connection with a robbery attempt in a parking lot across the street from Cohen's market, 2301 Illinois Ave., at 12:50 p.m. Friday.

Edward E. Freeman, 22, of 907 Washington St., Madison, was taken into custody at 1:15 p.m. Friday after a foot chase in West Madison.

Charges against Freeman are attempted murder, attempted armed robbery, unlawful use of a weapon and probation requirements.

An attempted robbery charge was placed against Samuel "Lester" Brown, 18, of 1035 Douglas St., Venice, who was apprehended about the same time. He was held in Venice and then was transported to Granite City.

Victim of the robbery attempt was Judy Buehler of Granite City. Intervening to help her was a grocery bagger, Lindell Simpson, who was outdoors assisting a customer in front of the store.

When Freeman allegedly drew a .25-caliber pistol, aimed it at him and attempted to pull the trigger, the pursuing Simpson leaped behind a pile of snow. The man fled and police were called. It is believed the gun did not discharge.

Simpson saw a man initially walking toward the store from the area of W.

24th Street and Illinois Avenue. The man stopped Judy Buehler as she got out of her auto in the parking lot. He told her to give him her purse, she refused and a struggle ensued.

She was thrown against her auto, the purse falling to the pavement. When Simpson approached to aid the woman, the man left the purse and ran toward an alley behind the parking lot.

As Simpson approached within 20 feet of him, Freeman allegedly spun around, aimed the gun with both arms braced, and appeared to squeeze the trigger. The store employee threw himself behind a nearby mound of snow.

The man ran to W. 24th and then toward Missouri Avenue, and a description of him was broadcast. When the suspect was halted in Madison, police confiscated the pistol.

Investigators contend Freeman got into an auto driven by Brown and that the vehicle drove to Route Three, heading south. It was seen turning onto Biswell, W. 3rd and Jackson streets, with the passenger exiting in the 800 block of Jackson.

A Venice officer pursued the auto from Jackson to W. 2nd and then to Webster and W. 3rd Street, halting the car there. It was towed away and the driver was apprehended.

Noting that a fleeing man was carrying a pistol, Madison Patrolman Gary Marsala drew his own gun and chased him along the 800 block of Jefferson Street and between homes into the street in the 800 block of Washington.

The suspect ran behind two parked cars and then threw a pistol into a yard where it was later recovered, at 813 W. Washington St. The officer caught up with the man and placed him under arrest.

Freeman was charged with attempted murder, attempted armed robbery, unlawful use of a weapon and probation requirements.

National BSA staff member to be speaker

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

Clifton E. Simmons, national director of community relationships for the Boy Scouts of America, headquartered in the Dallas-Fort Worth, Tex., area will speak to local boy scout leaders at the 32nd annual scouts' recognition dinner, Saturday, Feb. 6, at 6:30 p.m. in the VFW Hall at Edwardsville.

As the national director of community relationships, he helps to develop, maintain and expand understanding of scouting nationwide to service clubs, fraternal orders, veterans' and military associations, the armed forces, protection services (police and fire departments), business, labor and professional associations.

Simmons also assists local boy scout council professional staff members and key volunteers understand these varied community organizations. He became active in boy scouts as a youth member of Troop 108, sponsored by the American Legion, Goldsboro, N. C., and has served as a scoutmaster and Explorer advisor. He entered the professional service of BSA in 1964.

Simmons and his wife, Etta, are the parents of six children and three grandchildren.

Tickets for the dinner are $6 each and are on a first-come, first-served basis from the Scout Service Center, 1816 Delmar Ave.

Scout leaders with tickets for sale in this area are Robert Moske, Gene H. Sternberg, Ron Luebboen, Fred Mercer, Richard Spillars, Lefty Stark, Pat Foote, Francis Shane and Paul Mihalich.

Many local volunteer leaders and units will be honored at the dinner. The coveted Silver Beaver award, the highest award given to a local scout leader, will be presented to three volunteers from the Cahokia Mound Council.

The local council covers the southern half of Madison County and Benton County. Jack Vance is the dinner chairman and Jim Buck is the council president. Both men are from Edwardsville. This is one evening for fun and fellowship and a chance to give a big "thank you" to all scouts and their spouses for the tremendous amount of time and effort they put into the scouting program," Vance said.

Sternberg, an active scout leader locally, is the national chairman of the community relations committee, of which Simmons is the professional staff director.

Appointed treasurer of Illinois Veterans' Congress

Bob Fowler, coordinator of the Office of Veterans Affairs at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and president of the Illinois Veterans Congress (IVC), has announced the appointment of a new treasurer for the IVC.

Fowler said Linda Hewitt of Lewis and Clark Community College, who was elected treasurer at the annual IVC conference in Carbondale, has resigned, and he has appointed Walter Bushnell of Galesburg, an employee of Carl Sandburg College, to fill the position. The IVC is a not-for-profit organization funded by the public and private schools, colleges and universities of Illinois to assist in providing educational services for veterans.

Women of Farm Bureau's cookbook marks 25th year

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

If you believe a widely-held theory that American farm families eat good, wholesome, but only plain fare, that conjecture is about to be dispelled with publication of a special commemorative cookbook, celebrating the 25th anniversary of the Madison County Farm Bureau Women's Committee.

"Cookbook — 25 Years — Women of the Farm Bureau" is a compilation of 860 recipes, ranging from the more exotic Chiffon Black Forest Torte and a variety of foreign dishes — to tried-and-true recipes for soups, souffles, casseroles, salads, pies, pickles, appetizers, meats, main dishes, canning and so forth.

Most of the clearly-defined and easy-to-follow recipes, some of which have been cherished by families for decades, were contributed by Farm Bureau members of Madison County.

A special segment, however, contains personal recipes from some Very Important Friends of the Farm Bureau. First Lady Nancy Reagan offers her Baja California Chicken, a succulent main dish of chicken breasts seasoned with garlic cloves, dry sherry and tarragon vinegar, and her pumpkin pecan pie, a delectable confection.

U.S. Senator Charles Percy provides recipes for sand tarts, an almond sweet-meat, and ham and asparagus roll-ups.

Congressman Melvin Price's favorite chuck wagon pepper steak and Congressman Paul Findley's lemon bread are featured, together with a recipe for Illinois Delicious Apple Cake from Jayne C. Thompson, wife of Governor James R. Thompson, and State Senator Sam Vadalabene's very own Sam's Spaghetti Sauce.

The attractive cover of the 490-page cookbook shows a potpourri of fruits and vegetables, larded over by a chicken with farm buildings in the background.

The cover is the work of Martin Martinko of Madison, whose drawing was selected for reproduction in a countywide contest staged by the Farm Bureau.

Martinko, 33, of 2031 S. St. Madison, an accomplished artist, is employed at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

In appreciation of his artwork, he was presented a copy of the cookbooks by Rose M. Bauer of Granite City, project chairman.

The winning entry was submitted in the contest by Martinko's mother, Mrs. Suzanne Blattner of Madison, a member of the Farm Bureau Women's Committee.

Interpersed throughout the cookbook are photographs of historical buildings and other noteworthy landmarks in Madison County and the introduction outlines the beginning of the Farm Bureau Women's Committee in 1956.

The group, which has enjoyed a continuous active program since its formation, currently is headed by Kay Losh of East Alton.

The culinary expertise of male Farm Bureau members has not been ignored and is included in a segment entitled — How Men Cook.

Their contributions feature chili, beer batter fish, beef and pork meat balls, barbecued beans, Italian deluxe mosciotti and hamburger soup, among others.

Vichyssoise, to be served either hot or cold, is one of Mrs. Losh's recipes and Mrs. Blattner outlines her perfect Quiche in the book's Melting Pot sequence.

The same segment also contains Coo Au Vin (chicken braised in wine) from Mrs. Louis A. Schmidt of Edwardsville, Beef Louise from Kathryn Cook of Marine and Pizza Squares, using rye bread and processed cheese, from Donna Price of Granite City.

Lois Beckmann offers her step-by-step version of Chiffon Black Forest Torte and Rose Marie Bauer's Crusaders' cake contains spices still in use today, which originally were brought back to Europe by the Crusaders. Both women are from Granite City.

Broccoli souffle, using cottage cheese, and a Chicken and Broccoli Buffet Bake are provided by Helen Miller and Mary K. Willard, respectively, both of Granite City, and Ruth Brave, also of Granite City, offers recipes for date pudding and cheese tarts, among others.

Other sections are filled with such items as Noah's Ark Clam Chowder, spinach and broccoli dip, Russian Spiced Tea and Mulled Cider, Swedish Meatballs and Polish Mistakes, fruit pizza, Watergate Salad and shrimp cheese balls, to name a few.

Microwave and dietary cooking are not forgotten, neither is Emergency Hors D'Oeuvres, Quick Pigs in a Blanket, bourbon balls (cookies), various candies, homemade butter and homemade bread.

The cookbooks are available to the public through Jan. 31 at a cost of $9.05 each, according to Mrs. Blattner. After Jan. 31, the books will sell for $12.95 a copy.

Those interested in obtaining a copy of the book may contact a member of the Farm Bureau Women's Committee or call 876-0299 or 876-7030.

Wants King birthday a national holiday

Governor James R. Thompson called for making the birth date of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. a national holiday during ceremonies Friday honoring the slain civil rights leader.

"Among the great leaders who have brought this nation closer to peace and prosperity is Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.," said Thompson in a proclamation marking the anniversary of King's birth. "A clergyman and civil rights leader, he crusaded for harmony and freedom from violence."

His outspoken determination in the struggle for civil rights has left an indelible mark on all of America."

Thompson said that Dr. King's work in civil rights should be recognized by a national holiday.

"His dream of peace and understanding among humanity will long be remembered," he said, adding that "our country is a better place to live because of this remarkable man."

Dr. King's work toward advancing civil rights earned him the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize, the Governor noted, giving more reason to declare a national observance of his birth.

In Illinois, Dr. King's birthday is a state holiday and Governor Thompson has proclaimed it Martin Luther King, Jr. Day.

Stiff penalties at SIUE for shoplifting

Increases in shoplifting and other forms of retail theft are causing concern among area police departments, according to Charles McDonald, chief of police at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

McDonald said the increases are costly for both consumers and persons committing the crimes. Recent statistics reveal that Illinois loses $851 million per year from shoplifters. "Stealing each household $95 each year."

McDonald said law enforcement officials do not treat shoplifters lightly. Last fall at SIUE, an 18-year-old youth was arrested and convicted for stealing a $32 "SIUE" letter jacket from the campus bookstore. He was fined $275, and sentenced to three months supervision.

According to McDonald, "retail theft is concealing, abandoning or knowingly depriving a merchant of use or payment of full value of merchandise." He continued: "Altering price tags, switching containers, removing shopping carts from premises are crimes under the Retail Theft Act. Employees who take home more than their paycheck or who give friends cut-rate prices are performing acts of retail theft." The chief added:

"Damaging packaging or products and nibbling fruit or candy 'on the house' are penalties for a first offense involving property with a retail value of less than $150 can result in fines up to $1,000 and/or imprisonment of up to one year. The second offense can result in fines up to $10,000 and/or one to three years in prison."

McDonald warned, "What you can steal in one moment may haunt you the rest of your life. Shoplifting can give you a criminal record that may never be erased."

Newborn screening saves 51

Fifty-one Illinois babies were saved from permanent brain damage and mental retardation during 1981, aided by a new law requiring the screening of newborn infants for inborn errors of metabolism, according to the Association for Retarded Citizens of Illinois (ARCI).

A report published this month by the Illinois Department of Public Health showed 36 confirmed cases of primary congenital hypothyroidism and 15 confirmed cases of phenylketonuria (PKU) were discovered by the screening program and were treated before brain damage could occur.

A simple blood test administered three days after the birth can detect these abnormalities, and if treatment begins immediately, the baby can escape the damaging effects of the metabolic disturbances, the ARCI said.

Don Moss, executive director of the group, commented, "Although we have known for years how to detect and treat these problems, it took legislation to mandate the tests to obtain a full statewide screening program." "This is perhaps the most cost-effective program in Illinois today, because for $800,000 a year cost to the state, we are saving tens of millions of dollars for future lifetime care of these children."

The screening program is carried out by hospitals three to five days after the birth of babies. The blood sample is sent to the centralized laboratory of the Illinois Department of Public Health for immediate testing.

If the sample reveals suspected problems, the hospital and the baby's doctor are contacted for re-testing.

If the condition is confirmed, the IDPH and the Illinois Division of Services for Crippled Children provide consultation, diet supplements or treatment where needed.

If the condition is allowed to go untreated, there is almost a 100 percent chance that the child will become permanently brain damaged and mentally or physically handicapped, authorities believe.

According to Moss, it took years of lobbying by his advocacy organization to overcome the resistance of some medical and hospital groups to mandating the tests.

"They argued that the practice of medicine should not be legislated. But at the same time, hundreds of babies were being needlessly damaged because of halfhearted or delayed implementation of the screening process."

"Even to get this legislation passed," said Moss, "we had to agree to a 'sunset provision' which means the mandate will end on Dec. 31 of this year."

"We are desperately appealing to the legislature and the governor to support legislation this spring which will remove the 'sunset' provision."

"Not to do so would be a tragic waste of human life and would be fiscally irresponsible."

The Illinois Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities plans to introduce such a bill next month, according to its chairman, Senator Jack Schaffer, (R-Crystal Lake). Schaffer was the primary sponsor of the initial legislation which required the testing program.

Meaning of voting is topic of theme event

"What My Vote Will Mean to Me" is the theme for the Fleet Reserve Association's (FRA) annual Americanism essay contest, which is open to all students in grades 7 through 12.

A student may submit only one essay, no longer than 300 words, and legibly written or typed on one side of the paper. Entrants are to include their names, addresses, school grades, sponsoring FRA Branches and their own or parents' Social Security number on a separate sheet.

All entries must be postmarked no later than April 1 and sent to James Murley, secretary, Branch 267 FRA, 1442 Ramona Lane, St. Charles, Mo. 63301.

The National Grand Prize for this year is a $1,000 savings bond (The best of all grade entries). There also will be group awards. Each grade will have a first, second and third place award.

First place wins a $100 bond, second place is a $75 bond and third place award earns a $50 bond.

Winners also will receive a plaque of recognition and all entrants will receive a certificate for participating in the FRA's Annual Americanism Essay Contest.

Prizes also will be awarded at the regional level and will be announced at the Tulsa, Okla., Regional Convention in August. National winners will be announced at the FRA's National Convention in September in San Diego, Calif.

Students entering the contest will be sponsored by Greater St. Louis Branch 267, FRA.

Additional information is available from John Matras, USN (Ret.), chairman of public relations for Branch 267, FRA, phone 451-5255.

The Fleet Reserve Association, a veterans' organization with headquarters in Washington, D.C., represents more than 152,000 active duty reserve and retired members of the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard in more than 300 branches throughout the United States and overseas.

BPW planning spring dance

"Swing Into Spring" will again be the theme for a public dinner dance to be sponsored March 21 by the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club.

Plans for the event were reviewed at a meeting last week at the Illinois Bell Telephone Office in Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center.

The club's second annual spring dance will take place at Croatian Home, 10th Street and Madison Avenue, Madison.

Music for dancing will be provided by the Joey James Orchestra and dinner will be catered by Ravanelli's Restaurant.

Tickets, costing $12 per person, will be on sale at Tops 'N' Bottoms Shop, 1343 Nineteenth St., or by calling Hazel Rollins, 877-4151, or Ruth Milhouser, 931-1243.

Attending the planning session were Rosalie Stern, Ramona Burnett, Janet Mills, Helene Bieschhoff, Pauline Weir, Mrs. Milhouser, Ann Graklanoff, Florence Moore, Shirley Rapoff, Mrs. Rollins, Sharon Beckett and Ollie Derr, BPW president.

TO ATTEND BALCKBURN

Therese Marie Narup, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Narup Sr. of Granite City, has been accepted as a Freshman for the Fall Semester 1982 at Blackburn College. She is presently a senior at Granite City High School and was selected because of her high academic standing.

MUSIC MASTER OFFICERS

at Granite City High School North are, from the left, Mary McIlvay, historian; Candice Lynn, treasurer; Brian Pickens, president; Kathy Bronsman, secretary, and Wendy Simpson, vice-president. Modern Music Masters, unlike many other high school organizations, has a life-time membership. Sophomores will be considered for initiation in the spring.

Manning backs creation of development group

Independent Democratic State Senate candidate Mike Manning said today that he fully supports SUEE President Earl Larson's proposal for a "Southwestern Illinois Economic Development Corporation," aimed at solving the area's economic problems.

"Of course it's a good idea. I've had a nearly-identical proposal on paper since October as part of the platform I presented following the official filing of my state senate candidacy yesterday. As far back as my 'Madison County Economic Recovery Forum, I have been campaigning and educating myself and others on the need for cooperation and compromise between labor, business and government," Manning said.

Manning noted that results of questionnaires completed by Madison County residents at his Oct. 14th "forum" showed that "cooperation between labor, business, government and education leaders" was chosen from a list of area priorities, second only to "having concern for the welfare of others."

"For several years, it has been clear to me that SUEE, with its abundance of human, intellectual and physical resources, must play the leading role in putting paychecks back in the pockets of our working people."

Manning cautions, however, that several obstacles must be overcome before such an overall development program can succeed. "No program, no matter how well-intentioned, will be able to provide new job opportunities for our citizens until the costs of doing business in the state of Illinois and, in particular, the Madison County area, are competitive with neighboring states and 'Southern boom areas.'"

"Local labor leaders are going to have to back off on big wage-hike demands and certain unrealistic work practices. Abuses in unemployment compensation and worker's compensation are going to have to be eliminated, or at least reduced if we expect to turn things around," Manning stated.

Manning also believes that area (business) leaders can't expect workers to be more productive until on-the-job supervision is improved. "Whether in industry or on construction sites, getting the work done is a two-way street. Management can't expect miracles when they limit supervision to bulletin board notices and wall posters," Manning said.

Manning said the most important obstacle to the economic recovery of the 50th District is "reducing the number of greedy, poorly-educated politicians who are perennially kept in office with the help of the regular Madison County Democratic Party 'machinery.'"

Certain extremely wealthy businessmen, union bosses and lawyers keep the 'machine' well-oiled to line their own pockets at the expense of working people. They make our lives unhappy and our government almost unworkable. "I believe that 95 percent of these men who stand in the way of a better life for us young people are satisfied with the way things are. They have raised their kids, paid for their homes and are making top dollar."

"Well, I have news for them. It's our turn and we're going to at least try to make things better," he stated.

Manning said he would call for an immediate three-year "no strike" agreement by area construction and trades unions as an incentive to potential industry newcomers and developers, should he be successful in the March primary election. He added that "labor peace" also would help local industries with expansion plans to make positive decisions in the event of an upturn in the national economy.

Manning, 34, is a Marine Corps veteran who served two tours in Vietnam. He received a degree in journalism from SUEE in 1974 and has been active in independent Democratic political campaigns since 1970.

Manning and his wife, Karin Simmons-Manning, are employed as live-in group home supervisors for the Madison County Association for Retarded Citizens. They reside at 1251 Niedringhaus Ave., with their two children and four developmentally-disabled young men.

"The real key to turning catastrophe into opportunity for our people will be the way they vote on March 16 in the state of Illinois. It is time for throwing out the old, unsuccessful ways and willing politicians and trading them for guts, youth, education and hope. Without a doubt, my candidacy for the state Senate fits the latter description. Sam Vadalabene and the rich movers and shakers of Madison County finally have an opponent to contend with," Manning concluded.

If high interest rates have kept you from building or purchasing the new home of your dreams, don't let it stop you any more. If you make under $18,000 and have $750 to put down, call Dave at 462-8862 to see if you qualify for one of our low interest loans.

Red Bud comes back to nip North in overtime

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

SPARTA — The chilly weather outside the Sparta High School gymnasium here Wednesday night had nothing on the Granite City North Steelers.

North, which came into the Sparta Mid-Winter Classic as the pre-meet favorite, caught a cold in the third quarter, blew a 17-point lead and lost a double overtime decision to Red Bud 56-50 in the opening round of the tournament. "We just started standing around," said North head coach Bill Ohlendorf, who saw his team's record dip below .500 at 7-8. "We couldn't make anything happen. The shots stopped falling for us."

"Maybe I should have called some timeouts in the situation to halt their (Red Bud's) momentum. I take part of the blame."

North, appearing for the first time in the Sparta Tournament, will face Trico Thursday at 6 p.m. in a consolation bracket game. Red Bud will face DuQuoin in a winners' bracket semifinal Friday at 7:30 p.m. In Wednesday night's first game, DuQuoin trounced Trico.

Things appeared to be going well for North against Red Bud at halftime. The Steelers had broken open a close game late in the first quarter and cruised to a 34-21 lead at the intermission. Led by guard Carl Luehmann and forward Steve Trittschuh, the Steelers were in control.

Then came the third quarter. Red Bud scored the first basket of the second half to close to within 34-23. But the Steelers got three straight baskets from Trittschuh, Luehmann and Mike Sullivan to give them a 40-23 lead.

But Red Bud caught fire just when the Steelers lost their touch. The Musketeers scored 14 unanswered points over the next four and a half minutes to make it a close game again. North was scoreless from the 6:03 mark until they were only 11 seconds remaining in the quarter.

North called a timeout with 1:37 remaining in regulation. After stalling out the final ticks of the clock, a 25-footer by Trittschuh at the buzzer hit the side of the rim and bounced away harmlessly.

Quincy coach sees red after SIUE overtime win

By TERESA GULL
of the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE — When head coach Tom Pugliese took over the helm of the SIUE at Edwardsville basketball team last fall, he promised one thing — excitement. Wednesday night, his promise came true.

Amidst four overtimes, broken clocks, upset coaches, intense players and screaming fans, SIUE defeated Quincy College 89-85 at the Edwardsville High School gym. The SIUE basketball program had created a heart-pounding, stand-on-your-feet-screaming atmosphere.

Not to mention some good basketball. Although both teams played sporadically at times, the players were intense, gutsy and unyielding.

Kids for both teams played extremely well," Pugliese said. "The performance of the individuals on the court dictated the outcome of the game."

Sherrill Hanks, Quincy head coach, thought differently. After the game, he refused to shake hands with Pugliese, claiming Pugliese was responsible for the scoreboard clock problems.

With 1:03 left in the first overtime and the score tied 85-85, Quincy had control of the ball. They opted to go for the last shot. The scoreboard clock malfunctioned, however, and the clock jumped from 20 to five seconds. After consulting with both coaches, the officials added 15 seconds to the first overtime and gave Quincy possession of the ball.

The clock malfunctioned again, and seven seconds of the first overtime had to be played over. Quincy failed to score, sending the game into a second overtime. Hanks felt his team's momentum was hurt by the problems with the clock.

"I don't have anything to do with that clock system," Pugliese said. "It's not my fault. I think we won fair and square."

The controversy extended farther than the clock, however. In the fourth overtime, Pugliese grabbed the microphone off of the scorer's table and encouraged the fans to start cheering. Hanks felt a technical foul should have been called on Pugliese.

'Greedy' Venice holds off Eagles

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

COLUMBIA — You've got to hand it to the Venice Red Devils. They sure like to make things interesting.

Venice ran its record to 9-4 here Tuesday night with a 61-52 victory over Columbia. But the final score should never have been that close, according to Red Devils coach Ken Perkins. "We got greedy," he said. "We had the big lead and thought we could play games with them (Columbia)."

"But Columbia's no slouch. They came to play and they weren't going to be embarrassed."

Venice had a 19 point lead several times in the second half before the Eagles made a run at the Red Devils late in the game.

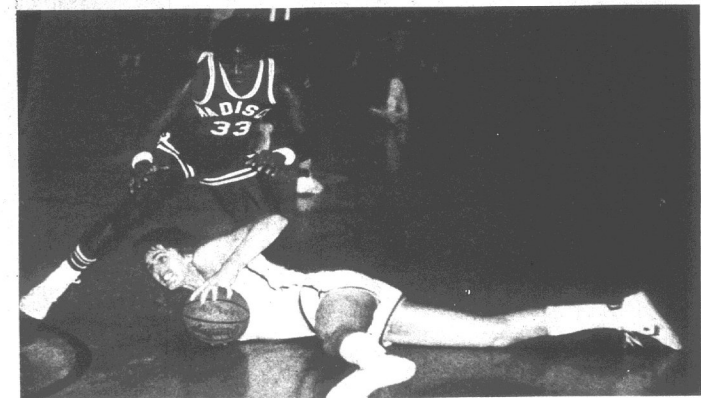

"Columbia gave Madison a heck of a game for three quarters the other night (Friday in the Dupo Tournament championship game)," said Perkins. "They've got some athletes who work pretty hard."

Columbia got off to a fast start against Venice, 6-3 forward Jeff Nottrott hit three straight fade-away jumpers and the Eagles had themselves a 6-0 lead with just a minute gone by in the game.

But Venice shut down the middle on Nottrott and he only scored three more field goals the rest of the game.

"He (Nottrott) was hot," said Perkins. "We had to shut him down. He does a lot of things for them. When he got in foul trouble, we were able to pull away a little more."

After the rocky start, the Red Devils were able to shut down Columbia and tie the score at 10-10 by the end of the first quarter.

HIT THE DECK. Madison's Carvell Claggett (33) and Livingston's Ed Gipson go for a loose ball Tuesday night during second half action.

tion at Livingston. Madison won the non-conference affair 72-65 to raise its record to 11-4 on the season.

Trojans use bench strength and press to dump Livingston

By ROGER KRAMER
for the Press-Record

LIVINGSTON — Livingston High School's basketball players had called unsung heroes of high school basketball. Even though the Eagles are 10-4 for the season and have a senior who has averaged 23 points a game over three years, few people think of the high school of 112 students as a basketball power.

Madison basketball coach Larry Graham knew better. He knew Livingston had a good team, but he found out the Eagles were a little better than he expected. The Trojans needed help from their bench and their man-to-man full court press to finally topple Livingston 72-65 Tuesday in a non-conference game.

"I think they (Livingston) was a little better than we thought they would be," Graham said. "They just couldn't handle our man-to-man when we put it on."

Livingston coach Ron Hampton thought his team had a good chance to defeat the Trojans. "I thought we had them there, but their press just ate us up. We've had problems handling pressure all year, and our guards didn't make good passes."

Livingston's rebounding, especially that of 6-8 center Eric Grote and forwards Jim Tippler and Ed Gipson, allowed Madison just one chance to shoot each time the Trojans brought the ball down in the first quarter. Livingston led 16-12 after the quarter.

MARKED MAN. SIUE-Edwardsville's Archie Tyson (in white) is closely guarded by Chris Jones of Quincy College Wednesday night at the Edwardsville High gym. SIUE-E came from behind to win a thrilling four-overtime decision from the Hawks, 89-85. It was the Cougars' sixth straight victory.

The Trojans scored nine unanswered points late in the third quarter that put them ahead for good. Madison led 51-46 after three quarters. The man-to-man full court press exclusively and used the bench to build its lead.

New honors

The plan was adopted 6-1. Secretary Robert Maxwell voicing concern over the promise to high school students of four years of varied and accelerated courses, in spite of the schools' worsening finances.

Mrs. Murnaghan said the program was developed because the State Education Board has identified gifted education as a priority and is calling for "a well-articulated program, kindergarten through 12th grade."

"And as entrance requirements become more stringent, our curriculum must continue to be responsive in preparing our students for this nationwide competition."

"PSAT or ACT test results determine college acceptance and scholarship opportunities. These results, past and future, will serve as data in evaluating the impact of the Granite City Honors Program."

"While the program will meet these prime objectives—gifted articulation and entrance test preparation—it has other important components, such as specific recognition for academic excellence, and a provision for able students to develop and demonstrate a sense of responsibility to others."

"Although students must meet certain minimum curriculum requirements, including a prescribed number of honors or advanced placement sections, there is flexibility to choose electives and extracurricular activities."

"I can benefit many students. Besides those identified as Honors Program participants, other college-bound and capable students will be permitted to enroll in the classes at the discretion of their principal."

"The seminar elective will be for Honors Program students and will serve as the basis for a service component. Students will perform 'service to the school and community,' including peer tutoring. New interests will be stimulated, but out-of-class preparation will not be required."

"Seminar content will include preparation for entrance exams and research skills, microcomputer literacy, self-initiated study and career and college opportunities."

"Learning experiences may include individual in-depth study, acceleration, enrichment, innovative approaches to subjects, or any combination of these."

"The activities will be planned to develop higher-level thought processes and critical thinking skills. The course content will not be 'more of the same' that is offered to regular students," she assured the board.

Renew calls

during a previously stormy financial session with the council.

"We haven't started any formal negotiations," said Fisk, chairman of the negotiating committee, but the he said letters from various city unions acknowledging a start of the negotiating period have been received. "A lot of things said tonight should be said at the negotiations later," Fisk said. He told the council members that they have about 30 days before negotiations will have to seriously begin.

"There need to be some layoffs and that's it," Alderman Michael Modrusic of the Seventh Ward said. Alderman Carl Kittel of the Third Ward asked the council to be "realistic" in its cuts, saying layoffs "should be done in all departments." Kittel said the city can not tell residents to expect decreased services and further borrowing without including employee reductions.

Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward said he cannot understand the council voting 10 to 4 against the one-percent liquor and restaurant tax when the comptroller "tells us we'll be half-a-million (dollars) in the red in December."

Whitmer said the 10 aldermen who voted against the tax will have to vote for further borrowing, because he will not vote to increase the city's $600,000 tax anticipation debt.

Fisk said he wants his negotiating committee to meet as soon as possible with the mayor and the city comptroller to begin preparing for talks.

Women's group supports 1973 Supreme Court vote

Tomorrow commemorates the ninth anniversary of the historic United States Supreme Court decision on abortion. The decision, reached by a 7 to 2 majority, is summarized by the Metro-East Chapter of the National Organization for Women as follows:

In the first trimester of pregnancy, there is no basis for state interference in the decision to continue a pregnancy or end it. The state may require that the abortion be done by a properly qualified physician, but deciding whether it should be done is a private matter between the woman and her doctor.

After the first trimester, when abortion carries a higher medical risk for the woman, the state may regulate the conditions under which abortion is performed, in the interest of her medical safety. The decision to have an abortion is still a private matter between a woman and her doctor.

After fetal viability in the last trimester, the woman "cannot be isolated in her privacy." At this point the state may prohibit abortion entirely, except when necessary to save the woman's life and health. More than nine million women have had safe, legal abortions since 1973, NOW says approximately 67,000 abortion were performed in Illinois in 1980. Ninety-one percent of abortions are performed in the first trimester (within the first 12 weeks of the pregnancy).

The AMA has warned of the dangers of current legislation that attempts to outlaw abortion. The AMA testified in Senate hearing against a bill that would declare life to begin at conception. "Passage of this legislation would interfere with physicians taking medically approved and necessary steps even life-threatening emergencies, to treat a woman who might be pregnant," the AMA statement contended.

The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists is in agreement with the AMA that this legislation "would create extreme dilemmas for the practicing physician and severe health problems for women," NOW says.

In regards to women's physical health and safety, the maternal death rates for childbirth are much higher than for legal abortion. The Center for Disease Control reports that the maternal death rate for full-term pregnancies and deliveries are 14 deaths per 100,000 childbirths under optimal conditions and 25 deaths per 100,000 childbirths in inner city and rural areas, NOW states.

In contrast there is one death per 100,000 first trimester abortions and two deaths per 100,000 abortions performed in the 13th to 16th weeks of pregnancy, according to NOW's figures. Childbirth is the 11th leading cause of death for women ages 15 to 44.

"The National Organization for Women supports the Supreme Court's decision. As the laws now stand, no woman, whatever her beliefs, is forced to go against her own conscience and every woman, whatever her choice, can count on the support of the medical care system to assure her safety. Through grassroots organization, the Metro-East Chapter of NOW is working to stop current anti-abortion legislation in Congress," the spokesman said.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hoehne

Hoehne-Moss

Miss Diane Marie Moss, daughter of Russell R. Moss, 2145 Johnson Road, and the late Mrs. Genevieve M. Moss, became the bride of William Earl Hoehne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hoehne, Hillsboro, Mo., on Oct. 24, at the Zion Lutheran Church in Ferguson, Mo.

Pastor Samuel Roth officiated at the double ring ceremony at 6:30 p.m. before an altar decorated with bouquets of yellow and white carnations and mums.

Organist Don Bauer accompanied vocalists, Don and Diane Wharton as they sang, "We've Only Just Begun," "The Wedding Song," "If," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a full length white A-line saten gown fashioned with a re-embroidered Alencon lace bodice featuring a V-neckline, traced with scallop lace.

Her bishop sleeves were accented with lace motifs and terminated at the wrists with gathered ruffles.

The A-line skirt and chapel train was enhanced with matching lace appliques at the hemline. She wore a lace headpiece to secure her fingertip veil, bordered with Alencon lace, and she held a bouquet of white silk roses intermingled with assorted blossoms.

Mrs. Janet Gresco, a sister of the bride, served as honor attendant with bridesmaids, Mrs. Joy Caschetta, Mrs. Nancy Koonce, Mrs. Lynn Reinhardt, and Mrs. Karen Metzger, a sister of the groom.

They were attired in identical teal polyester and ribbon empire style gowns fashioned with sweetheart necklines and fitted bodices worn with matching long sleeved jackets designed with peplums at the wastlines. The matron of honor wore a flowered comb in her hair and the bridesmaids selected floral halo wreaths as headpieces. Each attendant held long stem silk yellow roses with sprigs of baby's breath.

Dea Caschetta, a godchild of the bride, served as the flower girl. She was dressed in a satin frock designed with an empire waistline and full ruffled skirt enhanced with a satin ribbon and lace trim on the collar, yoke and cuffs of the long sleeves.

She wore aqua and white flowers in her hair and she carried a white wicker basket filled with silk roses and baby's breath.

The groom chose his brother-in-law, Dan Metzger, as best man. Jim Caschetta, Jim Higgins, Rick Weis, and Bruce Hoehne, a cousin of the groom, served as groomsmen and ushers.

Mrs. Karen Metzger and Mrs. Nancy Koonce also were candlelighters, and Miss Kelley Moss, a cousin of the bride, presided over the guest book.

Guests were received at a reception held in the American Legion Hall in Ferguson, Mo., and the rehearsal dinner was served at Mr. Yac's in Florissant. A graduate of Granite City High School, the bride is now working at the Bank of St. Louis as a secretary.

The groom graduated in 1970 from Berkeley High School and in 1975 from the University of Missouri. He is presently working at McDonnell Douglas Corp.

After a wedding trip to Hawaii, the newly married Mr. and Mrs. Hoehne are now residing in Florissant.

NEW POLICY
All wedding questionnaire forms must be completed and returned to the Press-Record office, 1815 Delmar Ave., two weeks prior to the wedding. If possible, photographs should accompany the form or, if taken at the ceremony, must be submitted to the office within 30 days of the wedding date. Both engagement and wedding questionnaire forms are available at the Press-Record office, and will be mailed upon request. Wedding forms submitted after the deadline will be shortened to include only the basic information.

Mr. and Mrs. Jason Wilhite

Wilhite-Abbott

Miss Lorraine Kay Abbott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fay Abbott, 3221 Rogers Ave., and Jason Wilhite, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilhite, 2512 Delmar Ave., were united in marriage on Dec. 20 at the Seventh Day Adventist Church in Collinsville.

Pastor William C. Stewart conducted the service at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a formal white gown fashioned with a lace yoke, high lace collar and long sheer sleeves enhanced with lace motifs.

Her softly flowing skirt extended into a chapel train. She wore a fingertip veil, bordered with lace trim, attached to a lace headpiece and she carried a cascade of blue and white flowers with baby's breath.

Miss Jenny Wilhite, a sister of the groom, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Miss Peggy Flinn, and the junior bride was Marni Abbott, a niece of the bride.

The attendants were dressed in long blue lace dresses trimmed with white lace. Each held a bouquet of blue and white flowers.

Brothers of the bride, Warren L. Abbott, was best man, and Edgar and Wilbert Abbott, served as groomsmen and ushers.

Chris P. Turner was the Bible bearer.

A reception for guests was held in the church hall immediately following the service and the rehearsal dinner was at Robitales in Caseyville.

Both young people graduated from South High School in 1980. The groom is serving with the U.S. Army at Virginia Beach, Va., where the newlywed couple is now residing.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hiller

Hiller-Wenzel

Blooming poinsettias placed around the altar of Holy Cross Church in Mendota, Ill., provided the setting for the wedding on Dec. 26 of Miss Pamela Wenzel and Gary L. Hiller.

The Rev. James F. Campbell officiated at the double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Organist Corine Sester accompanied Leslie Prillman as she sang, "Endless Love," "Longer," "Theme from Ice Castles," and "The Rose."

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wenzel, Route Two, LaMoille, Ill. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hiller, 4570 Carol Court, Evans, Ga., formerly of Granite City.

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor length ivory organza gown created with a fitted Chantilly lace bodice, Queen Anne neckline and long lace sleeves.

Her full skirt was encircled with rows of lace at the hemline and extended into a chapel train.

She wore a lace camelot hat, etched with pearls, to secure her lace bordered veil of bridal illusion, and she held an arm bouquet of ivory roses and burgundy carnations tied with satin ribbons.

Attending the bride were her sisters, Miss Andrea Wenzel as maid of honor and Mrs. Lynn Perkins and Mrs. Debbie Bartels, as bridesmaids.

They selected formal burgundy gowns and dresses designed with short sleeved blouson jackets worn over silk Venice lace camisole style bodices with tiny straps, and pleated skirts. Each attendant carried arm bouquets arranged with wrist corsages made with ivory and burgundy carnations and spider mums.

Kim Wenzel, another sister of the bride, served as the flower girl. She was dressed in an ivory frock fashioned with full length sleeves, a high collar and lace bodice accented with burgundy ribbons, and a gathered skirt encircled with a gathered flounce. She carried a small hand bouquet of ivory and burgundy carnations.

Wayne Kopchak attended the groom as best man. Jim Newberry, John Martin, Jim and Tom Hiller, brothers of the groom, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Both the rehearsal dinner and reception was held in the Holiday Inn, Peru, Ill.

A graduate of LaMoille High School, the bride is enrolled at Illinois State University and will graduate in May with a degree in elementary education.

The groom is a 1974 graduate of South High School and also graduated in 1979 from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. He presently is employed at Del Monte Corp., in Mendota, as a farm supervisor.

St. Peter Cathedral in Belleville, was the scene of the wedding on Oct. 24 of Miss Magdalene Theresa York, daughter of Mrs. Mathilda York, 1722 Fourth St., Madison, and the late Kenneth H. York, and Richard Dean Rohr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Rohr, 222 Brackett St., Belleville.

The Rev. Dennis F. Voss performed the double ring candlelight ceremony at 7 p.m. before an altar decorated with arrangements of apricot roses, white carnations, white gladioli and greenery.

Wedding selections, "The Wedding Song," "Ave Maria," "Sunrise, Sunset," "It," and "Almost There," were provided by Dennis York at the organ, and Mrs. Marilyn Shannon, vocalist.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Les Sabo. She chose a floor-length white organza gown fashioned with an empire bodice designed with a sheer silk embroidered yoke and edged with scallop lace and a high lace standup collar. Venise lace appliques trimmed the long sheer bishop sleeves.

The A-line pleated skirt featured a full deep crystal pleated flounce edged in Chantilly lace which swept into a chapel train.

A lace covered hat, accented with self roses beaded with pearls, secured her fingertip veil of bridal illusion. She held a cascade of white rosebuds interspersed with baby's breath and greenery.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Judy Brown and the bridesmaids included Miss Kathy Smetana, Mrs. Debbie Sabo, a sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Roberta Rohr, the groom's sister, and Miss Connie Mahl.

They were gown in full length apricot silk dresses designed with spaghetti strap bodices complemented with matching chiffon jackets which were slightly blouson and fashioned with push-up sleeves.

The slim skirts were flared at the hemlines and each attendant wore an apricot picture hat trimmed with satin ribbons and long streamers in the back. They held white lace fans with a cluster of apricot roses, white wild roses, poro fern and baby's breath attached.

Junior bridesmaids, Miss Jennifer and Shannon Rohr, nieces of the groom, and Miss Rachel Sabo, the bride's niece, were attired in identical long floral apricot dresses. They were created with wide flounces at the collars and hemlines and a wide satin sash marked the waistlines.

They wore a halo of peach daisies, azaleas, white stock flowers and baby's breath in their hair, and each attendant held a nosegay of peach roses encircled with daisies and angel lace.

Rebecca Sabo, a niece of the bride, and Jeffery Brenner, the groom's nephew, served as the flower girl and ringbearer.

She wore a white pleated silk frock with long pleated sleeves trimmed with lace and a satin belt tied in the front. She carried a white basket of peach climatis and peach daisies. Her headband was made up with white bell flowers, miniature peach asters, white stock and baby's breath.

The groom chose Tom Fahey as best man, Ray Alan Rohr, a brother of the groom, Steve Sabo, the bride's brother, Mark Tulluck and Randy Balz, were groomsmen.

Seating the guests were Lenny Colbert Jr., Lee Rogers and Mark Becker. Lenny Colbert and Mark Becker also served as candlelighters. Miss Sheri Boul distributed programs and Mrs. Carol Fahey presided over the guest book.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. York appeared in a formal cream colored lace over brown gown made with a ruffled flounce at the hemline. The groom's mother was attired in a long coral knit dress complemented with a sheer coral cape. Both mothers wore red rosebud and cream carnation corsages.

Guests were received at a reception held at the Anglers Club and the rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents, at the Mural Room at Panorama Lakes in Belleville.

The newly married couple took a wedding trip to Tan-Tar-A Resort in Missouri. A Madison High School graduate, the bride is presently employed by Cargill, Inc., St. Louis, as a secretary. The groom was graduated from Belleville West High School and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. He currently works as a proxy clerk for A. G. Edwards & Sons, Inc.

Birthday party for Jason Naney

Jason Naney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan (Diane) Naney, 2554 Buenger Blvd., celebrated his seventh birthday last week during a party at McDonald's Restaurant.

Lunch and birthday cake were served and games were played, with each child receiving prizes.

Among the youthful guests were the honoree's brother, Jason, and Amy Abernethy, Nicole Graves, Shawn Shelk, Leah Jamail, Bobby Wiggins, Eric Thorne, Jeff Malone, Kim Holloway, Melissa Burlison, Chris Warren, Sara Kraus, David Klee, Jason Warhol, Jason Hall and Tara Wyatt.

Later, a second party was hosted at the Naney residence with Jason sharing birthday honors with his grandfather, Robert Schultz.

The favors and decorations were in a football theme and a cake, made to resemble a Pittsburgh Steelers' helmet, centered the serving table.

In addition to the honoree, also present were Mrs. Robert Schultz, Mrs. Mildred Naney and Jason Naney.

He was announced.

Mrs. Tinsley hosts club

Mrs. Connie Tinsley entertained members of the Rollettes Club last week at 2601 Westmoreland Drive.

Those excelling in the games and winning prizes for the evening were Reata Radefeld, Joyce Waller and the hostess.

A late luncheon was served to those named and to Edith Wofford, Betty Brooks, Helen Wafford, Kathleen Wofford, Bernice Wofford, Jeanette Wilson and a guest, Tom Short. The next meeting will be hosted by Judy Gregory, it was announced.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gieszelmann

Senior group honors seven

Birthday honors were accorded to seven members of the More-He Merrier Club during its business meeting last week at the Granite City Township Senior Citizen's Center, 2060 Delmar Ave.

The honorees were Katherine Hinkley, Lottie Ostresh, V. J. Scrivner, Kathryn Todoroff, Lucille Pierce, Vickie Kent and Evelyn Stark.

Grace Paddock presided over the business session when reports were submitted by Marie Slaneck, secretary, and Elizabeth McCoy, treasurer.

New members welcomed into the club were Pauline Harp, Theresa Barylske, Dolores Hillis, Henrietta Hinson, Lucille Huggins and Jean Uherick.

Among the guests was Bernice Waller, who is visiting here from California. She is the house guest of her sister, Mrs. Pauline Cox.

Mr. Paddock announced the group's potluck dinner meeting will be held at 1:30 p.m. Jan. 28. She also reported the Granite City Park District will sponsor a Feb. 13 dance for all Granite City seniors.

Gieszelmann-O'Neill

The wedding of Miss Marie Louise O'Neill, daughter of Mrs. Susan O'Neill, 800 Altos St., Alton, and the late Patrick S. O'Neill, and James Brian Gieszelmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gieszelmann, 2252 Waterman Ave., was solemnized on Sept. 18, at St. Mary's Church in Alton.

Officiating at the 8 o'clock evening ceremony was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James A. Suddes.

The father of the bride, Patrick S. O'Neill, a retired former associate judge of Madison County Probate Court, died Jan. 6, 1982.

Nuptial selections were provided by Mrs. Diane Gieszelmann Pritchard of Champagne, Ill.

For her wedding, the former Miss O'Neill wore her mother's dress of ivory satin fashioned with a fitted bodice featuring an oval neckline accented with Alencon lace and long tapered sleeves.

The softly flowing skirt extended into a wide circular train. An heirloom wreath of wax orange blossoms and stephanotis secured her floor length veil of bridal illusion. She held a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and phalaenopsis orchids interspersed with baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Olivia O'Neill, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids included Glynn O'Neill, another sister of the bride, Melinda Hallinan, Ann Rogers and Lauretta Reising.

They chose dresses in shades of romance blue created with fitted bodices and draped backs tied at the waistlines.

Each held an Edwardian bouquet of white daisies and baby's breath tied with blue streamers.

Dr. Kevin Komandina attended the groom as best man. Dave Baumann, Joe Uram, Tim Batterson, and Brian O'Neill, a brother of the bride, were groomsmen.

Seating the guests were Kevin, Hugh and Scheffer O'Neill, the bride's brothers. Following the service a reception was held at Lott's Restaurant in Alton, and the rehearsal dinner was held in the Knights of Columbus Hall in Granite City.

A graduate of the University of Notre Dame, the bride will graduate from SIU Medical School in Springfield, Ill., in June of this year.

The groom graduated from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville with a Bachelor Degree in Chemistry and is to receive his Master's Degree in June, 1982. Currently he is employed as a medical researcher at SIU School of Medicine in Springfield.

The newlywed couple is now residing in Springfield, following a wedding trip to Montego Bay, Jamaica.

Twilight Class elects officers

Eleven members of the Twilight Sunday School Class met last week at Mount Zion General Baptist Church to elect officers and plan outings for later this year.

New officers chosen were: Mrs. Harriett Phelps, president; Mrs. Jenny Firtle, vice president; Mrs.

Beryl Roody, treasurer; Mrs. Allie Horman, sunshine and flower chairman; Mrs. Lillie Graf, secretary; and Mrs. Mildred Rippey, program chairman.

Devotions, entitled "What Will You Do With This Year That Is So New," written by Helen Stuenkel, were presented by Mrs. Phelps.

Mrs. Jessie Millan was welcomed as a new member and plans were discussed for the group's summer trips. Hostesses for the year were selected.

Prayers were requested for those who are ill and confined. The closing prayer was offered by Mrs. Flo Monroe.

Mrs. Ann Schubert was the January hostess. Mrs. Bessie Phillips will entertain the class in February.

Miss Wanda K. Simpson, daughter of Mrs. Mary Lemler, 2350 Waterman Ave., and the late William Simpson, became the bride of Jeffrey L. Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark, 2735 Buxton Ave., on Dec. 5, at Calvary Baptist Church.

The Rev. Glenn Masters officiated at the 6 o'clock evening candlelight ceremony. Robin Clark, a sister-in-law of the groom, presided at the piano and accompanied Janet Cox as she sang, "We've Only Just Begun" and "Longer."

Given in marriage by her stepfather Don James, the bride appeared in a formal white Chantilly lace gown fashioned with a molded bodice, high collar, V-neckline and long bishop sleeves, accented with pearls and sequins. The full tiered skirt fell softly into a cathedral train. She wore a lace and beaded headpiece to hold in place her cathedral length veil of bridal illusion.

She held a colonial bouquet of wine tipped carnations, pink bachelor buttons, white carnations, lily of the valley, forget-me-nots intermingled with greenery, angel's lace and tied with lace ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Sherry Hall, a sister of the bride, served as matron of honor, and the bridesmaids included Jodi Harrington, Sandy Moxey, Nettie Wasylak, Lisa and Nancy Simpson, also sisters of the bride, and Sharon Glassford, the groom's sister.

They were gownned alike in wine color A-line style gowns designed with fitted bodices, point despit yokes, long sleeves and pleated skirts.

Each attendant wore a comb in her hair with a wine and pink rose attached, and they carried colonial bouquets of wine tipped carnations, interspersed with pink and white blossoms and greenery.

Terra Hall and Jessica

Simpson, nieces of the bride, and Jason Hall, the bride's nephew, served as flower girls and ringbearer.

The girls were dressed in frocks created in a wine color fabric embossed with pink calico print fashioned with over the shoulder collars, long sleeves and tiered skirts.

White lace and wine velvet ribbons trimmed their dresses. Each one wore a cluster of coordinating flowers in their hair and they carried hat style baskets filled with matching blossoms.

The groom chose his brother, Steve Clark, as best man. Groomsmen included Terry, Kenny, Mike and Mark Clark, brothers of the groom, and Steve and Dennis Simpson, the bride's brothers.

David Clark and Charlie Moxey served as ushers and candlelighters. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lemler selected a turquoise blue sleeveless gown featuring a fitted bodice, round neckline and full skirt worn with a matching shawl.

The groom's mother chose a formal ivory and toast dress designed with caplet sleeves and empire waistline, accented with silver beading. Both mothers wore corsages of white silk flowers.

A reception was held at the Moose Lodge immediately following the service. Mr. and Mrs. Clark, parents of the groom, entertained members of the wedding party at a rehearsal dinner held in their home.

Kathy Clark, a sister-in-law of the groom, presided over the guest book. Both young people are graduates of South High School. The bride is employed as a security guard and the groom is enrolled as a student at Belleville Area College. He also served a tour of duty with the U.S. Army.

Child care is meeting topic

Child Care Chapter Night was observed by members of the Women of the Moose, Chapter 247, at a meeting held last week in the Moose Lodge.

Senior Regent Theola Garcia opened the meeting and introduced Child Care Chairman, Georgia Brankov. She in turn presented her committee and gave two checks to the chapter which will be forwarded to Mooseheart for the children residing there.

Approved as new members were, Edith Cardin sponsored by Nancy Wood, and Margaret Cockrell, sponsored by Mildred Votoupal. Plans were completed to host a towel social on Feb. 7 at the Moose Lodge, during the business segment.

After the meeting luncheon was served by the Child Care committee and prizes were awarded to Jean Teller, Carolyn Hester, Louise McClanahan.

Towels won during the social hour went to Edna Miller, Pat Macke, Lisa Green, Virginia Sever and Jean Teller.

A green plant sale will be held at the next meeting on Jan. 27, it was announced.

Sandra Painter and Keith Brandon

Brandon-Painter

Plans for a Feb. 20th wedding were disclosed with the engagement announcement of Miss Sandra Louise Painter and Keith Gerard Brandon by the bride-to-be's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne C. Painter, 2128 Benton St.

The groom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brandon, 5248 Lakeview Drive, A North High School graduate, he also attended Western Illinois University for two years.

Miss Painter was graduated from South High School and attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for two years.

Chapter accepts donation

The January meeting of Gabriel Shrine 78, Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, was opened by Jerry Pragacz, watchman of shepherds and Dorothy Edwards, worthy high priestess.

Preceding the business session, Martha and Jerry Pragacz presented a $100 gift to the chapter in memory of the late Winfred Edwards, husband of the worthy high priestess.

Those escorted were supreme officers and supreme committee members, Lloyd Lewis, Mary Ellen Lewis, Oco Woods, Cleveland Cox, Mary Petrosian, Alice Woods, and Ann L. Mueller.

The resignation of Clara Jones, who held the office of noble prophetess, was accepted and an election was held for chaplain with Ruth Cox receiving the appointment.

Installation ceremonies were conducted by Mary Ellen Lewis and Mary Petrosian with Mrs. Cox presiding at the altar as she accepted the office of chaplain.

An invitation was read from Bethel 43, Order of Job's Daughters, to attend the Masonic Night observance to be held during their meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 26.

A memorial service was conducted for the late Clara Harbig who died Dec. 13. She became a member of the organization on June 20, 1941, it was noted.

Also, condolences were extended to Bonnie Fisher, whose mother died, and to Lida Theis, whose sister died Jan. 2.

Those celebrating birthdays and anniversaries were Sandy Simpson and Mary Ellen and Lloyd Lewis.

Jerry Pragacz extended appreciation to pro tem officers for the evening: Mary Stuart, Jimmy Stuart, Mary Hoover, Mary Petrosian, Alice Woods, Cleveland Cox and Oco Woods.

He then invited all members to retire to the dining room for homemade soup. The next session is set for Feb. 11 and will honor all pro tem officers, it was announced.

BUNKO-ETTE EVENT

Attending the Bunko-Ette Club's regular meeting were May Ebling, Leona Delaloye, Ruth Partney, Julia Portell, Wanda Puhse, Rose Druhe, Helen Lipchik, Florida Batson and Dorothy Barnett.

Thomas Marrs and Rebecca Rea

Marrs-Rea

Mr. and Mrs. Eldin E. Rea, 3216 Erin Drive, are announcing the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Miss Rebecca Lynn Rea and Thomas Walter Marrs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Marrs Jr., 1604 Clark Ave.

A 1979 graduate of Granite City High School South, the bride-to-be is presently employed at Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., St. Louis.

Her fiancé, a 1978 graduate of White Hall High School, Pine Bluff, Ark., is currently working as a jewelry repairman at Hudson Jewelers downtown store. The betrothed couple and their families are making plans for a March 13 wedding at Bethel Chapel Pentecostal Church.

Mrs. Parrish leads study

Mrs. Myra Parrish led a study on the topic of "Partners With Children" at the monthly meeting of the Christian Women's Fellowship held at Central Christian Church.

A panel which included Donna Swanson, secretary at Logan School, Dolores Vogler, chairman of Friends In Learning, which is sponsored by the Church Women United, Larry Miller, director of United Way, and Dave Penumrite, director of the YMCA, discussed the subject after the presentation by Mrs. Parrish.

Mrs. Doris Edwards, president, opened the meeting with the CWF prayer, and noted Ruby Hart was appointed to fill an office vacancy.

The second mission dinner will be held at 8 p.m. on Sunday, Jan. 24, according to Marge Kacera. Bernice Fague requested the loan of old fashioned oil lamps for table decorations, at the function.

A report on the quadrennial to be held June 21-25 at Purdue University, was given by Mrs. Marie Gordon.

Mrs. Edwards presented Velma Gruen with a gift in recognition of her service as president of the organization last year.

After the business segment, The Dorcas Group served refreshments to 25 members from tables decorated with maps of Texas. The decor was in honor of a member, Jo Stephens, who is moving to Texas. During the social hour Mrs. Gordon presented her with a going away gift on behalf of the group.

Mrs. Edwards closed the session with a worship statement.

With an Illini Retirement Account two times as fast as equal millions!

For example, two employed spouses each putting $2,000 a year into separate IRAs for 40 years can retire with $4,260,050, assuming a constant 12% interest rate.

But becoming millionaires at retirement is only one of the multiple benefits during those 40 years, the couple's taxable income will be reduced by $4,000 a year and they'll pay no taxes on the interest earned. Taxes are paid only when they begin using the money at age 59½ or later. While that money is accumulating, each account will be protected by the FSLIC, an agency of the U.S. Government.

NEW EQUIPMENT. The new IBM Electronic Typewriter, Model 75, was displayed by Frank Armour at a meeting of the Madison Chapter of Future Secretaries Association. He gave a lecture and demonstration on the new equipment available in modern offices today. From left, are members Helen Reed, Mia Jenkins, Lisa Sturns, Tammy Kemp, Armour, the IBM representative, Lenora Williams, Djuna McKenna, Maryann Bisto, Phyllis Shipp, Tracy Champion, Tammy Halliburton, Teresa Robertson and Karen Lapinski.

Secretaries view latest equipment

The Madison Chapter of Future Secretaries held its regular meeting for the month of January, at the high school.

After a business meeting, conducted by President Tracy Champion, a representative from a fund raising organization spent a few minutes getting ideas from the membership concerning fund raising activities scheduled for the month of February.

The educational program for the day related to some of the modern office equipment that will be found in today's office. Speaker, Frank Armour, a representative from IBM, gave a lecture and demonstration of the IBM Electronic Typewriter, Model 75. The members saw such features as: electronic memory, document storage, phrase storage, "editing" control panel, electric column layout, electronic number alignment, electronic full-line error correction, format storage, ribbon cassette system, lighted margin scale, automatic carrier return, electronic margins and tabs, choice of type styles, operator instruction cards, memory protection device and double underscore.

Several of the members actually operated the machine and many sound questions were presented to Armour. He did a good job of presenting the machine and related very well with the members by his method of presentation and concern in helping them gain a greater knowledge of the rapid changes being made in office equipment.

Armour continually told the members not to fear change but be willing to adjust to it and learn about it.

The meeting ended at 3:45 p.m. with a reminder that the next regular meeting will be Feb. 9, at 2:30 p.m.

Tax-Aide program needs volunteers

Mrs. Elina Hoover, district coordinator of the Tax-Aide Program for retired persons, announced volunteers are needed to work with the project during a meeting of the American Association of Retired Persons, Inc., Granite City Chapter 1340. The program is offered each year to assist local residents with tax problems. Mrs. Hoover added:

There were 114 members and guests who attended the business meeting held at the Granite City Township Hall, last week.

President Ruth Allen opened the meeting with the pledge of allegiance and Karmyn Edmonds offered the prayer.

Guests were welcomed including Bernice Waller of California, who is visiting her sister Pauline Cox. Reports were given by Evelyn Fildes, secretary, and Juanita Crawley, treasurer. Membership chairman, Elizabeth McCoy announced new members included Paul and Vivienne Danco, Jean Hall, Maude Bohmstedt, Betty Melton, James and Norma Tolbert, Henrietta Hinson, Stanley and Eva Berry, Richard and Betty Duff, Vera Scott, William and John and Mary Reed.

Several cards have been sent to members reported ill, according to Marie Baker, sunshine chairman.

Other announcements included, an audit has been completed according to Mrs. Edmonds and Mrs. Baker, and Helen Bertacchi, program chairman, said music was to be furnished for dancing and entertainment following the session. She also noted a Valentine party is planned for February and a St. Patrick's Day event for the month of March.

Art Lindner, special events chairman, introduced

Jim Elchelman of the Land, Sea and Air Travel Agency, who outlined future trips which will be offered to senior citizens in the forthcoming months.

Other chairmen presented during the day were Mrs. Edmonds, community service, Rebecca Parrish, refreshments, Clyde Myers and Caroline Lux, registration and prizes.

Prizes were awarded to Joseph Hall, Henrietta Hinson, Mildred Shifter, Stanley Berry, Hazel Stagg, Evelyn Smith, Tony Vavra, Gertrude Boskey, Alvina Thurau, Helen Bergfield, Marion Lambert and Rosemary Breyer.

The president noted the board will meet on Jan. 27 at 9:15 a.m. and the next membership session is set for 7 p.m. Feb. 10, at the township hall.

Cake and coffee was served and music was by Art Bertacchi and Bob Lambert.

Ten Commandments sermons planned

A series of sermons on the Ten Commandments will begin on Sunday, Jan. 24, at the 10:15 a.m. service at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, according to the Rev. Louis Frick, pastor.

Rev. Frick will speak on the first commandment on Sunday and will continue the series each Sunday morning. Coordinated with the series will be children's sermons in the form of dramas, to exemplify the meaning of each commandment.

According to the announcement the minister will attempt to show how relevant the commandments are to life today.

Cacti plants Cloverleaf topic; Mrs. Lentz elected president

A program on cactus plants was presented to the members of the Cloverleaf Garden Club by Charles Gandorla, whose hobby is growing those plants.

The group met at the Gandorla home at 2337 Lynch Ave. At the meeting, Mrs. John Lentz was elected president of the club by acclamation at the suggestion of Mrs. Gandorla. Mrs. Lentz will take office following installation ceremonies in March. Mrs. Jenkins has been acting president for the past year.

Following a dessert luncheon, the meeting was called to order by Mrs. Jenkins. The club collect was read by Mrs. Eldon Melkank and committee reports were given.

A letter from Bellevue Area District was forwarded by Mrs. William Lindley, District V director, informing garden clubs that there will be a television course on home gardening during the spring semester. Interested persons may contact Charles P. Gledhill, coordinator of horticulture.

The Executive Committee at the state board meeting, recently held in Chicago, recommended that annual dues for member clubs affiliated with the Garden Club of Illinois, Inc., be raised to $3 per person, which will include a yearly subscription to Garden Glories magazine.

At the conclusion of the business session, Gandorla talked about the extensive collection of cacti he has on display. He said his interest in this hobby began when he brought back several specimens from a trip to Colorado a few years ago.

These included the "Prickly Pear" and "Colorado Barrel (Opuntia)." Since then, he has added "Bunny Ears (Opuntia Microdonta)," the "Hamato (Setispinus)," the "Golden Barrel (Echinocactus)," "Oldwoman (Oreocereus Celsianus)," "Old Man (Cephalocereus)," along with many others.

Of special interest was an attractive dish garden containing all dwarf plants (Mammillaria), "Golden Stars," "Colorado Opuntia," "Bonza," "Peruvian Torch" and "Golden Fingers."

Gandorla said some plants bloom in early spring and others start in June. Most blooms are part yellow and orange. He said starting in October or November there should be a resting period of two months for the cacti plants.

Propagation can be started with offsets from the mother plant and also by grafting. Seedlings will get a good start under fluorescent lights.

In the care of cacti, he said spraying with "Flowers of Sulphur" will keep off-shoots from getting infected. Benomyl keeps the soil free from mildew fungicide, and "Rootone F," a plant hormone, will help to give roots a quick and healthy start.

Members attending the meeting were Mrs. Clarence Elberidge, Eldon Melkank, George Knapp, Harold McCauley, John Lentz, B.C. O'Neill, Kenneth Brokaw and John Jenkins. Mrs. Brokaw has invited the group to her home for the February meeting.

Gospel singing at nursing home

Bill and Peggy Scroggins entertained residents at Colonial Haven Nursing Home with a gospel music program, this month.

Both are now residents of Granite City and are former country western singers who for eight years performed with the Lee Mac Oark Opry of Bagnell Dam.

After the birth of their son, the couple came to this area to make their home. Scroggins is now music director at Bethesda Baptist Church.

They are currently singing throughout the Bi-State area with a selected gospel music program.

The program at the nursing home included 11 favorite songs and several arrangements by Ruby Irwin, Orville Brooks, in Manitou Springs, Colo.

The late Mr. Brooks was married to the former Miss Irene Sabo. Both were residents of Granite City, before moving to Manitou Springs.

A related story on the death of Mr. Brooks is in the obituary column of today's issue.

Oriental theme at club meeting

A welcoming sign, written in Chinese, greeted members of Thorngate Garden Club as they arrived at the home of Mrs. Clara Schillinger, 2323 Lynch Ave., for a monthly meeting.

The sign, decorated with rice paper fans, was placed on the fireplace mantle, and brass oriental candeliers holding Lotus candles centered the tables.

Prior to the meeting, a menu of Chinese food was served by the hostess and her granddaughter, Mrs. Cathy Schillinger, and included fortune cookies.

Each member was required to use chop sticks and dessert was served topped with a small paper umbrella. Favors were beaded baskets filled with candy.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Enid Bolen, and roll call was answered by reading the "fortune note" in the homemade cookies. The group also related special Christmas activities they enjoyed during the holidays.

Plans were completed to honor the charter members on the 25th anniversary of Record funds for agricultural research highlight SIUC report

Reports of record funds garnered for agriculture and forestry research and major new international research and development projects highlight a recent Southern Illinois University at Carbondale report to its agriculture alumni.

The report, mailed annually to more than 4,000 former SIUC School of Agriculture students, summarizes a year of activity on the SIUC agriculture campus.

Gilbert H. Kroening, dean of the SIUC School of Agriculture, reported that more than $1.2 million from 97 new grants was obtained by agriculture faculty members in 1981.

In addition, extensive new research projects were begun in cooperation with a Brazilian university and a five-year $12-million development project was begun in Zambia. The Brazilian project renews an old friendship with the Federal University of Santa Maria, Kroening said. SIUC helped establish an agriculture school there in the 1970s. Now, that school is helping SIUC with research on swine management, sweet corn production, forage production and aquaculture. The Zambia project, emphasizing crop production in that lesser developed African nation, is sponsored by the U.S. Agency for International Development. SIUC is one of three universities involved in the project.

In other news:

— George Weaver, a native of Anna, was named chairman of the department of forestry. He is an associate professor of forestry, specializing in forest ecology.

James Legacy, associate professor of agriculture education, was named chairman of the department of agricultural education and mechanization. Legacy, a specialist in teacher education, is a native of New York.

The department of plant and soil science named two new faculty members: Don Wilkerson, who earned his Ph.D. at Louisiana State University, accepted a position as ornamental horticulturist; and Bradley Taylor, who earned his Ph.D. at Ohio State University, joined the department as a fruit specialist.

— John Keith Leasure, nationally recognized pesticide expert and agronomist, retired in 1981. Leasure, a former vice president of the university and former plant and soil science department chairman, had joined SIUC in 1966.

Plant and soil science professor Donald Elkins was named the nation's top agronomy teacher in 1981 by the American Society of Agronomy.

SIUC students won national or regional championships in livestock, dairy and poultry judging contests.

Brenda Parmley was elected vice-president of the organization by acclamation to fill a vacancy.

Leann Cooper vies for Miss St. Louis Blues

Leann Cooper, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Cooper, 4212 Maryville Road, is among approximately 25 contestants in this year's Miss St. Louis Blues Contest, sponsored by the Blues hockey team and the Heart Association.

The girls compete by collecting donations for the local Heart Association chapters. The one who raises the most money for the life-saving cause is declared Miss St. Louis Blues for the year. This is the third annual contest.

In an effort to achieve the title, Miss Cooper has may be mailed any time to her home and will be appreciated personally, and by scheduled a fund-raising charity dance for Feb. 13 at Polish Hall in Madison. Those obtaining tickets are being requested to make a $5 per person or $8 per couple donation.

Music will be performed by "The Casuals," a group offering a variety of musical styles. Persons interested in tickets for the event may send donations to the Coopers' home, 4212 Maryville Road, or call 931-0944 to make arrangements.

Miss Cooper said she is grateful for all of the support she has received, thus far, and is hopeful there will be a large turnout Feb. 13 at the dance.

The money raised in Granite City will stay in this region to help the local chapters of the Heart Association. Miss Cooper noted Area chapters are in Belleville and Wood River. Both serve the Quad-City area.

Miss Cooper also hopes to arrange other fund-raising events between now and the close of the Miss Blues contest, but said donations

Fire auxiliary plans 1982 summer events

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Dept. met at the fire station at 113 Ponton Road to make plans for the new year.

President Audrey Ribbing welcomed three guests, Peggy Wall, Jean Gann and Ruth Winters with the latter two joining the auxiliary as members.

Refunds were given by various committee chairpersons and officers and several new committees were formed. Plans were tentatively made for the family picnic to be held in June.

Brenda Parmley was elected vice-president of the organization by acclamation to fill a vacancy.

The exhibit is made up of 44 pieces selected by Rod Buffington, gallery director at EIU, from the "Recent Acquisitions" exhibit held recently at SIUE and other works in the university's permanent collection.

Huntley feels the traveling exhibit accomplishes more than a simple exchange between campuses. "Art provides a humanizing role in society; it is essential in a university's existence — it provides both enjoyment and education," he said. "This exhibit brings to taxpayers of Illinois the opportunity to partake of and gain knowledge of the cultural resources being developed at

'Traveling' art show

A "traveling exhibit" of art from the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville campus will be displayed until Feb. 12 at Sargent Gallery on the Eastern Illinois University campus at Charleston.

Among the pieces on display at EIU are works such as "Legs," a contemporary lithograph by Philip Pearlstein; "Nursmaids," by James A. M. Whistler; and "Les Visages," by George Rouault. The works are to return Feb. 15 for display in various buildings on the SIUE campus.

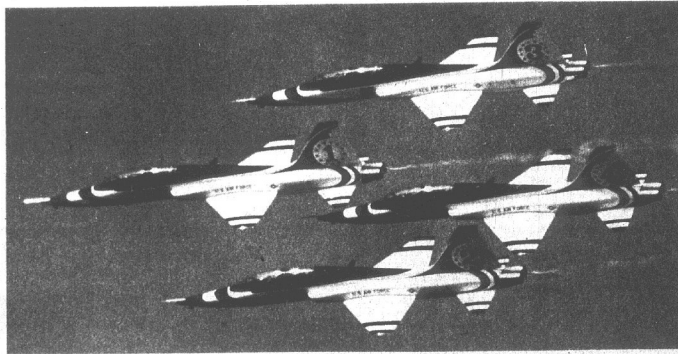

Religious faith to be discussed on SIUE station

Malcolm Muggeridge and William F. Buckley explore the phenomena of religious faith on "Firing Line" Sunday (Jan. 24) at 5:30 p.m. on WSIE-FM (88.7), the public service radio station at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Describing Muggeridge as "the most eloquent English-speaking lay apostle" of Christianity, Buckley focuses the program on his views and meditations. Muggeridge describes his approach to faith as an unfolding of enlightenment filled with doubt and uncertainty. "Doubt, for me," he says, "has been an integral part of coming to have faith, nor has there been any dramatic moment, any time when — there it was!"

Flirting with disaster

TRAGEDY AND DEATH. During a practice session for an upcoming air show season, four members of the USAF Thunderbirds plunged to their deaths Monday in an unexplained crash near Indian Springs, Nev. These photos were taken at the precision-flying team's performance in August, 1979, at Scott Air Force Base. At left — two of the T-38 jets in close formation just above ground level and the spectators. The team flirted with disaster during each performance, but the possibility of accidents has been something the pilots live with in their mission. Madison answers three fire calls

The Madison Volunteer Fire Department answered three calls over the weekend, two of which were in Nameoki Township, an area the fire department says it will not protect after Jan. 31.

Officer Frank Bacassi, while on patrol, spotted smoke at 1238 Madison Ave., Madison at 12:56 a.m. Friday and called the fire department.

Firemen were at the scene until 4:20 a.m. after responding with three pumpers and the mini-pumper.

The building was vacant and scheduled for remodeling. Damage was estimated at $15,000. The cause of the fire is unknown, however, the Madison County arson investigation team is looking into the circumstances.

The owner of the building is Michael Bandy.

From 3:35 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday, Madison firefighters extinguished a blaze in a camping trailer belonging to Jack Maxxill, 2038 Sken St., Nameoki Township.

A fire department spokesman said Maxxill had no insurance to pay for the fire call.

At 1:30 a.m. Sunday, fire in a car at 200 McCambridge Ave., Nameoki Township, belonging to Elizabeth McQuire, was extinguished by the Madison firefighters.

Due to an alleged $19,000 in unpaid fire calls to Nameoki Township, the MFD and city have served notices on the Nameoki Township Board of Supervisors that as of midnight Jan. 31, 1982, the MFD will make no more fire calls in Nameoki Township, unless payment is guaranteed.

A fire call outside the boundaries of Madison costs the fire department an estimated $500.

PRESS-RECORD ASKS GET RESULTS

Schools to review curriculum

A detailed curriculum review is planned by the Granite City Board of Education.

The review was approved Tuesday night by the board on the recommendations of B. J. Davis, superintendent, and Warren D. Collins, administrative assistant for instructional services.

The board had instructed the administration to propose a format for updating it on the curriculum. "In reviewing minutes of the meeting on Nov. 24, I interpreted this to indicate that there should be a general refresher of all programs in the district, and that this should be an on-going presentation," Collins reported Tuesday night.

"As you are aware, this district has not made it a practice to make a 'big show' in publishing how well our students rank in national comparisons."

"In our updates that are sent to members of the board, it is clear that — regardless of whether or not we use percentiles, grade equivalences or stanines — our students compare very favorably with state and national standards.

"Obviously, these results are directly attributable to the support from the parents, the dedication and innovation of the staff, the concern and support of the Board of Education, and the desire of our students to learn."

"The success rate of our students, whether they immediately enter the world of work or pursue a higher education, is a well established fact."

"We have had several reports from Thomas Holloway and Roy McConkey relating the preference of employers for hiring our graduates. James Dumont, Gilbert Walmaley and the senior high counselors have submitted several reports on the high percent of our graduates continuing their education — and their success in higher institutions."

"These comments do not have a direct relationship to a proposal for the format of a curriculum review, but it does underscore the curriculum itself," Collins said.

"I propose that the curriculum review be divided into exit level units and be presented sequentially:

"Kindergarten, then primary level, intermediate level, junior high school, senior high traditional academic areas, followed by senior high non-academic areas and then evaluation (program and individual)."

"Two weeks prior to a scheduled presentation, members of the Board of Education will receive copies of the developmental Learner Objectives and Curriculum Guides appropriate to the levels and subjects to be covered at the next presentation."

"Prior to the first presentation, the board will receive a list of the mandated subjects for each level; time recommendations per subject areas in the elementary program; and the State Education Board and North Central time requirements per subject area at the secondary level."

"I suggest that the supplementary service be reviewed at the conclusion of the elementary and senior high presentations. The supplementary program should include:

"Special education, gifted education, learning centers, the resource program, Title I programs, reading labs and counseling."

"The presentation of each of the exit levels will be designed to:

"A. Explain what disciplines are taught."

"B. Explain why each discipline is taught."

"C. State what the students are expected to achieve."

"D. State the percent of skills mastery that is anticipated."

"We tentatively plan to make 12 presentations starting in March 1982. These will provide a general overview of the curriculum. "Additional sessions covering more specific areas can be planned in areas that are requested," Collins noted.

The proposed schedule:

March, kindergarten.

April, primary.

May, intermediate.

June, elementary supplementary services.

July, Title I.

August, evaluation.

September, junior high.

October, senior high academic.

November, senior high vocational.

December 1982, senior high supplementary programs.

January 1983, physical education.

And February 1983, music education.

"Additional sessions covering special education and gifted education at the kindergarten through 12th grade level can be added if the board would like a more comprehensive study of these areas," Collins said.

Supt. Davis added, "Based on board instructions, the administration through the efforts of Mr. Collins has developed plans that would give the board a comprehensive picture of our curriculum during the next year."

"It appears to me that the review has merit. It is recommended that the board approve so that Mr. Collins may proceed with implementation." A unanimous vote followed to devote portions of half of the upcoming semi-monthly sessions to the curriculum discussed.

Oversize load too tall, breaks signal

Fred Lee Mock, 36, St. Louis, driving a Schaum Transfer truck from St. Louis, knew he had an oversize load but apparently did not know precisely how tall it was as he proceeded east on Niedringhaus Avenue at 11:25 a.m. Monday.

The top of the load struck an overhead traffic light signal structure suspended from the middle of Niedringhaus' intersection with Cleveland Boulevard and 19th Street.

The signals were twisted a quarter-turn, with three light covers bent, and the green light smashed.

In addition, there may have been damage to the Opticom mechanism, through which lights can be automatically turned green or red when an emergency vehicle approaches.

Trend to flexible job patterns

(Tenth in a series of 15 articles exploring "Working: Choices and Changes.") In this article, sociologist Fred Best describes alternatives to the nine-to-five, 40-hour work lives that have dominated our past. This series was written for COURSES BY NEWSPAPER, a program of University Extension, University of California, San Diego, with funding from the National Endowment for the Humanities. Copyright (c) 1981 by the Regents of the University of California.)

By FRED BEST
Have you ever felt that you were on a treadmill going from school to work to retirement with no stops along the way?

Have you ever wished you could arrange your life differently, to include more vacation time or leaves for further education or travel?

Have you ever had to cope with overly rigid worktime arrangements to accomplish family or personal chores?

If you have these feelings, you are not alone. Such concerns have become commonplace. And, as a result, major changes in the ways we distribute work over the days, weeks, and years of our lives are already occurring.

Worktime arrangements in the future are likely to be considerably more diverse and flexible than in the past, allowing individuals to work in ways that better meet their needs and preferences.

Traditionally, if one held a job, one worked 40 hours a week for approximately 40 years sandwiched between schooling during youth and retirement in old age.

Today, managers and employees alike are questioning the desirability of such standardized worktime arrangements and our prevalent education-work-retirement lockstep.

SOCIAL CHANGES. This move toward more worktime flexibility is rooted in fundamental social changes in education, family life, retirement, and employment.

Less and less do we follow the traditional practice of gaining all of our education during youth.

A 20-year-old today can expect to live another 35 years, as compared to 42 years in 1900.

Thus, the idea of recurrent education throughout life has become increasingly reasonable.

In addition, almost one-third of today's workers change their occupations every four years.

The need to adjust skills in response to social and technological changes—coupled with growing interest in recreational education, and the recognition that "real world" experience augments formal schooling—is encouraging youth to interrupt school with employment, and adults to break from work for education.

Changing family patterns are also increasing the demand for worktime changes.

Until recently, traditional family values encouraged men to hold full-time jobs as "breadwinners" and women to forego or minimize employment in order to perform full-time "homemaking" duties.

Today, husbands and wives are increasingly sharing income-earning and, to some extent, homemaking responsibilities as couples have fewer children and women pursue careers or take jobs to help meet family expenses.

As more of us become members of dual-earner households, the task of juggling home and career will necessitate more flexible worktime arrangements in order to meet individual needs.

Additionally, family time constraints when both spouses are employed will foster a desire to forego earnings in exchange for time off.

Despite the pressures of inflation, increased earnings from two paychecks will commonly create the financial discretion to trade earnings for time.

Another likely change will be the flexible extension of employment into the later years of life.

Life expectancy for those aged 65 has increased from 13 to 16 years since 1940. Thus, the need to spread fixed incomes and savings over longer retirement years—along with improving health and progressively less toilsome work—may cause many individuals to hold jobs past the traditional retirement age.

Indeed, population trends indicate that public and private pension systems must support a growing number of retirees in the future. The resulting sparsity of funds may make it necessary for persons to work past 65.

In response, older workers are more likely to seek less than full-time employment or extended leave options as a price for postponing retirement.

Other worktime reductions may result from high unemployment.

In the past, social policies to shorten the workweek, prolong schooling during youth, and lengthen retirement were instigated partly to spread jobs among more workers.

Despite these and other policies, joblessness remains unacceptably high, and policymakers are exploring ways to spread unemployment by further reducing worktime.

MORE WORKERS, LESS WORKTIME. These developments are all contributing to one of the most profound labor market trends of our era: The size of the labor force is skyrocketing, but a growing proportion of this expanding labor force would prefer to work less than "full-time."

The proportion of all adults seeking or holding jobs has increased from 60 percent in 1960 to 64 percent in 1980 and is projected to top 66 percent by 1990.

At the same time, aspirations for reducing worktime and scheduling it more flexibly have also increased.

According to one representative survey in 1978, 59 percent of American workers would trade from two percent up to 50 percent of current income for more free time—if they could choose the type of time-off.

Similarly, 84 percent would exchange all or some of a 10 percent raise for more free time.

Other studies indicate over half of men or more individual choice in scheduling daily and weekly work hours.

One survey found that 79 percent favored overall life scheduling that would mix schooling and leisure into mid-life rather than compartmentalize such non-work time into youth and old age.

WORKTIME REFORMS. While standardized worktime routines continue to dominate the world of work, innovations that were unheard of a decade ago have become commonplace.

The proportion of employees voluntarily working part-time has increased from 11 to 19 percent between 1954 and 1977.

In the past, most part-time jobs were temporary, low-skilled positions. Today, increasing numbers are career-track jobs that allow individuals to fluctuate between full and part-time while gaining seniority and promotion.

"Job-splitting," where two persons share one full-time position, has become common and has proven successful for high school principals, line administrators, and other positions requiring complex tasks.

Flexitime, which allows employees to arrive at and leave their jobs late or early as long as they put in a full day's work, is used by an estimated 13 percent of American employers.

In Europe, the flexitime concept has been expanded to the week, month and year, allowing employers to avoid overtime pay rates while meeting the preferences of employees.

Modified workweeks, such as four days of 10 hours each, are frequently observed.

Although comparatively rare, sabbaticals and leave-of-absence rights have emerged outside the academic world.

Many private firms in the labor-competitive electronics industries have developed three-month to six-month paid sabbaticals as an effective means of recruiting and retaining employees.

Leave-of-absence rights up to one year are now common in the public sector.

Among the most interesting innovations are voluntary worktime reduction programs. One California county allows individual employees to forego five, 10 or 20 percent of their annual earnings for 10, 20 or 40 days of additional vacation.

This popular program was originally started as a voluntary work-sharing scheme to avoid layoffs.

During its first year, 18 percent of the county's 10,000 employees freely exchanged pay for time, thus reducing overall labor costs and avoiding layoffs. In some cases, similar programs have actually increased the number of jobs by making it necessary to hire replacement workers.

Another notable approach to combating joblessness is Work Sharing Unemployment Insurance.

This program, which has been used for 50 years in Germany and was recently initiated in California, allows payment of partial unemployment insurance for employees who go on shorter workweeks to prevent layoffs.

No one is laid off; workers retain most of their take-home pay and fringe benefits, and employers avoid expensive recruitment and training costs.

Like all changes, these worktime innovations have costs as well as benefits. Nonetheless, these institutional changes are gradually redistributing work, not only among different groups in our society, but across the days and years of our lives.

Next: J. Richard Hackman and Edward E. Lawler III, experts on business organization, discuss "The Quality of Work Life."

Births drop in December

The number of births and marriages in Madison county decreased during December, but the number of deaths rose slightly, according to a vital statistics report released by County Clerk Evelyn Bowles.

There were 273 births during the month, compared to 318 births during December 1980, according to the report. They included 142 boys and 133 girls compared to 174 boys and 144 girls a year ago.

The report listed 204 deaths in December with 196 a year ago. Marriages totaled 184 last month compared to 200 a year ago.

Confusion on tax status of IRA plan

Area consumers were advised Monday by the St. Louis Region Better Business Bureau that a few misconceptions exist concerning the new Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA).

"There has been some confusion as to whether or not IRA contributions are tax-free. The fact is that IRA investments and the interest earned on them are 'tax-deferred.' The contributions made by the consumer are, indeed, tax-deductible; however, earnings on the deposits are tax-free only until withdrawal," the BBB says.

"If an individual chooses to withdraw money from his IRA before the age of 59½, this money is taxable in the year it is withdrawn and a penalty fee for early withdrawal is charged. There are two exceptions to this rule, disability and death. When the individual withdraws the money after the age of 59½, the money still is taxable, but no penalty fee is charged.

"It is suggested that you investigate before you invest," the consumer protection group concluded.

State aircraft monitoring speed

Speeds of cars and trucks will be monitored in this area Sunday and Monday by the Illinois State Police aircraft. It was announced this week. To alert motorists to watch their speeds, the state police have announced the times and places the airplane will be operating.

On Sunday, it will monitor the vicinity of Interstate 270 and Route 111 north of Pontoon Beach between 8:30 and 11:30 a.m. On Monday, Jan. 25, the plane will be monitoring speeds on Interstate 64 in the vicinity of Route 157, troopers warn.

The airplane measures the average speed of vehicles and radios the speed to state police cars on the ground, along with the description of the speeding vehicles. Squad cars then halt the violators and issue traffic citations.

The State Police are warning motorists that the 55 mph maximum speed limit is being strictly enforced throughout the region, as are new and stricter laws relating to driving while under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

Memoriams

IN LOVING memory of our loved one JULIUS ZEUGIN who passed away Jan. 21, 1979. When twilight hours draw near, and sunset claims the sky, we think of our dear one, and in happy days gone by. Thoughts of him come drifting back, within our dreams to stay, to know that he is resting, when twilight ends the day, beyond the beautiful sunset, loved and missed by wife, son Charles and Family. 31 121

IN LOVING memory of FLORA RICE, Jan. 21, 1980. Remembering 80 many times and so many more you made life so much richer, and we miss you. —Missed by Sons, Daughters, Grandchildren and Great-Grandchildren. 31 121

IN LOVING memory of our dear mother, JOSEPHINE SPORCK, who departed this life Jan. 23, 1982. Though the years are many they are filled with memories of you. Sadly missed by Children and Family. 31 121

Return from convention

Bert and Steve Longhi, owners of Bert's Audio and TV have returned from the 37th annual convention of the National Association of Retail Dealers of America (NARDA), held in Las Vegas this month.

More than 700 retailers attended the three-day event to learn about new government regulations, the state of the economy, and to evaluate new products and services they'll be offering their customers, and how they can best fill consumers' needs.

NARDA's membership consists of many of the country's leading independent retailers, who have pledged themselves to providing their customers with the finest possible values.

Bert and Steve Longhi, active members of the association, said that today's consumer is more sophisticated and more conscious than ever before. "He expects to get his dollar's worth, but he also expects a good service, attention and knowledgeable service that more and more seems to be a must for the consumer," they said.

Participation in NARDA helps enable us to continue providing competent, personal service to our customers at the best values available.

Madison firemen

injured slightly

Two Madison firemen were injured slightly while fighting a fire at 1928 Beck with Ave., Madison, early Tuesday morning.

Mike Skoklo fell from a ladder and Danny Polson slipped on ice. Both men were taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, X-rayed and released.

Madison firemen responded to two separate fires Tuesday at the home of Michael Dunnivant.

A smoke detector alerted the family at 1:40 a.m. and the family vacated the home. The firemen had the fire out and left at 2:45 a.m.

It was estimated that $5,000 damage was done to the frame structure, valued at $32,000.

An electrical short-circuit near a fuse box is believed to have caused the fire. The house was totally destroyed by the second fire, which occurred a few hours later.

The cause of the second fire is unknown and under investigation.

Guards for young defendants urged

By JIM SCHLUETER

Transporting defendants, to and from Madison County courthouses is causing delays at trials and hearings, according to Chief Circuit Judge Joseph Barr.

Barr came to the county board's Finance Committee for help.

Barr told the committee that the problem of delays could be solved if two part-time guards were hired to escort juvenile defendants to hearings.

Under the present arrangement, three sheriff deputies are responsible for escorting juvenile defendants as well as adult defendants.

When adult and juvenile hearings are conducted at the same time, delays can result when defendants are called for in both hearings.

One court must wait until the other courts' defendant has been transported to the courtroom and back to the courtroom of the defendant's home.

"Last week, we called for a prisoner at 11 a.m. and he didn't arrive until 2:30 p.m.," Barr said. "We don't have to think of something else and make do," Barr said. "The idea is to be as efficient as we can be."

"Some juveniles are as big as full-grown men, and they're young," Barr said. "There are some physical problems in those cases."

The members of the Finance Committee said they would discuss the problem.

Barr said he has talked with Maj. Fred Bright, sheriff's department director of field operations, and Thurl C. Jones, director of probation and court delays.

"We don't get the extra money we have to think of something else and make do," Barr said. "The idea is

Promotion for former resident

Miss Linda King, 32, formerly of Granite City, has received a promotion at the University of California-Davis Medical Center, in Sacramento.

She has been named the medical center's public information representative in the department of community affairs. She had most recently been a secretary in that department.

Miss King is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas King, 2875 North St., and is a graduate of Granite City High School.

An older sister, Jackie (King) Alevoli, also works at the same medical center and is presently the clinic coordinator of the otorhinolaryngology department.

Preceptor Chapter enrolls new member

A new member, Terry Guidice, was enrolled in Preceptor Beta Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, at the initial meeting for the year held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Haldeman.

President Marilyn Lumpkins officiated at the candlelight pledge ritual. She was assisted by Dolores Dorch, Evelyn Tolliver and Carol Cathey. After the ceremony, the new member was presented with a pledge pin and yellow rose, the flower of the sorority.

She was welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. William Forrest, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Rains, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Brackett, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Byrnes, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tolliver, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Tsigoloff, Ruth Soyano, and Mrs. Dyer and those named.

A buffet dinner was served by the hosts to mark the beginning of the New Year. A previous holiday meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Norma Rains. All decorations were in keeping with an international theme with tropical plants used as favors. Other gifts were special Christmas items made by Bea Brackett and Linda Koehnig.

A traditional dinner was served by the hostess who was assisted by Arlene Haldeman, Dolores Byrnes and Mrs. Koehnig. Dessert was a variety of cookies, depicting countries around the world.

Selected stories of Christmas celebrations in other countries were read and compared to family traditions of members followed by a gift exchange. Attending were Ruth Soyano, Evelyn Tolliver, Marilyn Lumpkins, Barbara Jones, Carol Cathey, Linda Koehnig, Dolores Byrnes, Arlene Haldeman, Bea Brackett, Pat Tsigoloff, Dolores, Dorch, Terry Guidice, Martha Dyer, and an honorary member, Lucille Voyles.

58ers Club forming team

At the regular meeting of the 58ers, 4-H Club members discussed forming a team to compete in the Food Fued to be held at the Farm Bureau Building in Edwardsville.

The event will be held Jan. 30. A teenage group is being formed for junior and senior high school students, who are taking "Food for Entertainment." They will meet Jan. 23.

The meeting, called to order by Tracy Nelson, was held at St. John's Church of Christ. Amy Johnson led the pledge of allegiance and Beth Johnson led the 4-H Pledge.

The members discussed taking a tour. Mrs. Ault asked for ideas.

Talks were given by Catherine Dimitroff, Karen Zarlingo and Eunyoung Lee. Recreation was led by Tracy Feigenbutz and Laurie Miller.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 4 at St. John United Church of Christ at 7 p.m. The leaders are Arla Ault and Belinda Hoffman. Any girls or boys interested in joining 4-H may contact the leaders at 877-5877 or 876-2288.

Madison Club donates funds

Members of the Madison Junior Service Club agreed to donate funds to various organizations during its January meeting held at the Madison Recreation Center, last week.

President JoAnn Gushleff presided over the session. She noted $100 was given to the Venice-Madison Fine Arts Committee, $100 to the American Cancer Society, and $50 to the Little Rascals football club to be used for new equipment.

The club received a note of thanks from the United Way for a $50 donation made earlier, the president said. Also club members, Linda McMurray and Mrs. Gushleff sent thank you notes for gifts they received from the club.

Reports were given by Linda Skolko, secretary, and Toni Sbabo, corresponding secretary.

Others attending were Kathy Buchele, Dottie Caffrey, Debbie Dillon, Caroline Champion, Julia Voloski, Carol Robertson, June Reynolds, Diane Hudzik, Mary Ann Kamaniski, Donna Kostecki, Donna Woodard and Fannie Fisk.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Champion and Mrs. Reynolds.

Cameo Society plans projects

The Cameo Society finalized plans for a "video party" on Saturday, Jan. 30, in the home of Roger and Joyce Tracy, for members and their husbands during the January session.

Mrs. Martha Gianakos hosted the meeting in her home, as plans were also made to dine at Sonny and Char's in Collinsville, in lieu of the regular meeting next month.

Service Chairman, Barb Mihalich, extended appreciation to those who donated times for a needy family.

The group will participate in the "Toy Depot" for St. Louis Children's Hospital, it was noted.

In other business, Cindy Hollingshead, ways and means chairman, discussed plans for the Annual Breakfast with the Easter Bunny. Final arrangements will be announced later.

Pam Decker and Jane Jackstadt were in charge of the program for the evening, entitled "Cruised Cross Streets" with members completing a craft project.

Others attending were officers, Mrs. Jackstadt, president, Linda Givens, recording secretary, Mrs. Gianakos, treasurer, Phyllis Talley, corresponding secretary, and Sandy DeMoulin, Joyce Sullivan, Joyce Tracy, Ellen Voyles and two new members, Kim Harris and Myrna Tessary.

Mrs. Henley hosts club

The Lesche Literary Club held its January meeting in the home of Mrs. Bess Henley, 27 Oaklawn Drive, last week.

President Connie Strotheide called the meeting to order. Mrs. Burdine Holtzschler led the group in repeating the pledge of allegiance and Mrs. Ruth Ann Bartels, gave the club collect.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Ruth Ann Bartels, program chairman who introduced Mrs. Marie Gordon.

In keeping with this year's theme "Montage," Mrs. Gordon presented a review of the autobiography "Ingrid Bergman, My Story," co-authored by Alan Burgess.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 9, at the home of Mrs. Mary Miller, 2330 Princeton Drive.

Mrs. Henley served a dessert course to those mentioned and to Mesdames Mary Ann Cochran, Peg Stevens, Verna Stuart, Lois Holsinger, Hannah Kleinschmidt, Lois Lester, Nancy Cochran, Geneva Miller, and a guest, Gerry Jackson.

Marshall School wins 'Oscar'

A traveling "Oscar" award provided by the Area Council PTA Fine Arts committee, at the end of the school year the trophy will be presented to the school that has held the honor the largest number of times, according to Mrs. June Branding, Cultural Arts Chairman.

The Marshall School board depicted 20 nutcrackers, made by the students, hanging in three dimensions on the board with the title, "The Nutcracker Suite," done in red and white permatext letters.

On the right side of the board stood a Christmas tree decorated with 7-inch angels created by the students and more nutcrackers lying beneath the tree. They also had a tape recorder telling the story and music of the Nutcracker.

Other participating schools are Johnson, Lake, Niedringhaus, Maryville, Mitchell, Nameoki, Parkview and Webster.

The project will be continued in the elementary

Junior troupe selects crest

Junior Girl Scout Troop 11, sponsored by Emerson School, has chosen the Cardinal bird as its troop crest.

Troop activities since the beginning of the school year have included a trip to Loch's Pumpkin Farm; Junior "Kamp Kapers" at Camp Torqua near Edwardsville; the Neighborhood 11 "Festival of Giving"; old-fashioned Christmas caroling with Junior Troop 359, and a troop Christmas party.

Members recently completed work on the computer fun badge. One of the requirements includes a computer demonstration and question and answer session, which were given by the staff of Centaurus Computers, 12 Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center.

Upcoming troop activities will include a more badge work, a Thinking Day celebration next month, and Girl Scout Week festivities in March.

Episcopal Diocese to ordain new bishop

A new Bishop for the Episcopal Diocese of Springfield will be consecrated Feb. 6 in the Roman Catholic Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception in Springfield. The Rev. Donald M. Hulstrand, 54, will be ordained to the episcopate in ceremonies at 11 a.m., which will include ten bishops, some 40 priests of the diocese, visiting clergy of other churches, and other lay dignitaries.

Chief consecrator will be the Most Rev. John M. Allin, Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church, assisted by the Bishops of Milwaukee, Indianapolis and Chicago, as well as the retired Bishop of Minnesota. The preacher will be the Bishop of Colorado.

Also taking part will be the Bishops of Northern Indiana, Kentucky, the Assistant Bishop of Ohio, and the Suffragan Bishop of Colorado.

The invitation to use the Cathedral was extended by the Most Rev. Joseph McNicholas, Bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Springfield in Illinois, a first in ecumenical relations in central Illinois, although there have been numerous such precedents elsewhere, as Catholic Cathedrals are often larger than Episcopal Cathedrals. Because of the added capacity, there will be no limitations on those attending.

Father Hulstrand will become the Ninth Bishop of Springfield, succeeding the Rt. Rev. Albert W. Hillestad. His jurisdiction covers 44 congregations in the southern two-thirds of the state, including St. Bartholomew's Church, Granite City. The congregation will be represented at the consecration by the Rev. Wilbur L. Lear, rector of St. Bartholomew's, John K. Mefford, Steven Blatz, and with other members of the parish.

Father Hulstrand has been rector of Trinity Parish, Greeley, Colo. He is nationally known for his work as executive director of the Anglican Fellowship of Prayer from 1975 to 1979. He was a participant in the Anglican International Conference for Renewal of Leaders at Canterbury in 1978. He has held many diocesan positions in Minnesota, Northern Ohio and Colorado. He is an internationally-known speaker, and the author of "And God Shall Wipe Away All Tears," and "The Praying Church."

A service of enthronement

REV. D.M. HULSTRAND

in the Episcopal Cathedral Church of St. Paul the Apostle in Springfield is set for later this spring.

Add course to airlift school

A one hour unit of instruction on the mission of Airlift Communications Division was recently added to the curriculum of Airlift Operations School (AOPS).

The purpose of the addition is to familiarize students with the role of ACD. The division activated June 1, 1981, is the single manager of communications and air traffic services in support of Military Airlift Command. Senior ACD officers will deliver the ACD instruction at the school. AOS conducts eight four week classes each year with 58 students per class. The purpose of the school is to instruct airlift middle managers in all facets of airlift, with emphasis on wartime readiness.

44th Crippled Children's Ball

The 44th annual Crippled Children's Ball will take place at 9 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 30, it was announced this week.

The public ball traditionally is sponsored by the Venice Crippled Children's Organization to help support work at the Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children, the Shriner's Burns Center, St. Louis Children's Hospital, March of Dimes Foundation, the Salk Institute and the Organization for the Advancement of the Handicapped (OATH).

The gala event will take place at the Venice-Madison American Legion Hall, 740 Broadway, Venice.

Tickets, costing $2 each, currently are available from most Venice residents, or may be obtained at the door on the night of the dance.

Jack Tolliver and George Mangiaracino head the ticket committee.

General chairman of the 1982 ball is Tom Fields, president of the Venice philanthropic group.

Music for dancing will be provided from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. by the Joey James Orchestra.

Serving as co-chairmen of the decorating committee are Dale and Marcia Georget.

Question Mark canisters also can be seen at area business places in which patrons may place donations. These contributions are added to proceeds from the dance.

Pete Wilkinson and Harold Koelker Jr. are responsible for the distribution and collection of the canisters, and may be contacted by persons wishing to have a container in their place of business.

Refreshments at the ball will be under the supervision of Jack Lee and Fields, with Mrs. Evelyn Tolliver as chairman of the cake committee.

Others serving as chairmen of different committees, include: Valeta Bauder, publicity and music; John Dickey, cashier committee; Roseann Koelker, program; members of Boy Scout Troop 1, cloakroom; and Leo Davinroy, floor committee.

'Home Gardener' among TV classes

One of Belleville Area College's new Telecourses offers advantages not available in the traditional classroom. The Home Gardener, a three-credit class, uses time-lapse photography to show in a few minutes what can take hours or days.

The Home Gardener includes 30 half-hour programs which will be aired on WSTU-

TV, Channel 8, beginning Jan. 25. Tapes of the class also are available at the BAC Library for those unable to view the Home Gardener, when a presentation is missed.

The course will cover the art and science of cultivating plants other than grain crops. Fruits and vegetables, ornamental plants, landscape design, golf course maintenance and greenhouses will be discussed. A field day at the BAC campus also will be held, which will include demonstrations on seeding and fertility.

Telecourses, which are in their second semester at BAC have 173 students registered, including 20 for The Home Gardener. Other classes which are aired on KETV-TV, Channel 9, are America: The Second Century, Introduction to Data Processing, and General Psychology.

Registration for Telecourses will be taken through Feb. 19, but students are responsible for bringing coursework up to date and viewing any missed presentations at the BAC library.

For information and to register, students may call 255-2700, extension 200.
